FREED FROM WRECKED TRAIN

His left foot amputated, motorman train cab in which he was trapped for more than two hours after two-train collision in New York today.

Car Dives Into Inlet, 3 Vancouver Men Die

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Three men were killed today when a car smashed through a guard rail on the city's Second Narrows Bridge, and plunged into 30 feet of water in Burrard Inlet.

A fourth man survived the death plunge which occurred about 7 a.m.

He has been taken to the Vancouver General Hospital suffering shock.

Authorities described his condition as "satisfactory."

Names of the victims were withheld by police.

A hospital spokesman said the four men were submerged in their car in the waters of the inlet "for five minutes," before rescuers were able to pull them free and lift them to the surface.

The spokesman adds that the lone survivor of the accident "was not the first of the four to be brought up."

Ed Hanson was one of 20 bridge workers who leaped into the water and helped right the car.

He said they pulled the first man out first. All four were cut and bleeding, he said.

Stent Jensen, a worker on the new Second Narrows bridge, said he heard the railing crash and saw a car "twist over and fall into the water."

He said he could see only the roof of the car sticking out of the water. Jensen said he thought the men were all alive when he reached the scene.

"We managed to get three out rather quickly," he said.

The fourth man, believed to be the driver, was wedged in the car and rescuers had to hold his head above the water to free him.

Lightkeeper Safe

Foreign Aid Bill To Be Voted Today

Speedy passage of the measure was expected in the House today.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian navy's Arctic patrol ship Labrador, which has discovered two new deep-draft passages in the Canadian Arctic, has been congratulated by the United States navy.

Labrador this summer established that navigable passages exist through Bellot Strait, between Somerset Island and Boothia Peninsula, and between Resor and Pike Islands near the head of Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island. The latter adds a new approach into Baffin Island's Frobisher Bay, from the Foxe Basin area.

Vice-Admiral John M. Will, commander of the U.S. Navy's Military Sea Transportation Service, said his formation especially appreciates the Labrador's achievement in the Frobisher area because his command had experienced two costly groundings in Frobisher Bay.

Rear-Admiral Roy Gano, commander of an MSTC Arctic task force, messaged:

"Your discerning the need for additional navigable channels, and seizing the opportunity while accomplishing assigned duties and coping with unseen operational problems was a very fine example of initiative, resourcefulness and professional competence, reflecting great credit to the Royal Canadian Navy."

Russ Reject 'Useless' West Arms Cut Plan

Canada Did Her Part---John D. On Arms Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today the Canadian government has agreed to include all or part of Canada for an aerial inspection system in a world disarmament program, if Russia reciprocates.

In a 700-word statement in his dual capacity as prime minister and external affairs minister, Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada "considers that a useful start in providing safeguards against surprise attack could be made in the Arctic areas."

Commenting on Western disarmament proposals advanced today in London, he said Canada would do her "utmost to ensure that the system works effectively."

Most of Mr. Diefenbaker's statement is devoted to the West's proposals, made in the sub-committee of the United Nations disarmament commission of which Canada is a member along with the United States, Britain, France and Russia.

Inspection is necessary to insure that all parties to the proposed agreement carry out their obligations, he said.

"It is our belief that it is of the greatest importance to have in operation such systems of inspection if we are to ensure that under a disarmament agreement all nations will enjoy the same security that their present defences provide."

'Sought to Meet Russ Interests'

"Because of this belief the Canadian government has agreed, if the Soviet Union will reciprocate, to the inclusion of either the whole or a part of Canada in an equitable system of aerial inspection and will do its utmost to ensure that the system works effectively."

"We consider that a useful start in providing safeguards against surprise attack could be made in the Arctic areas."

Canada's participation in shaping the proposals had been guided by a desire to find the means of avoiding war.

"Any war could provide the spark which could lead to nuclear conflagration, he said."

"We consider that the proposals offer a realistic and practical basis for a first stage from which we could work with confidence toward more far-reaching measures. In preparing these proposals we have, with our Allies, sought constantly to meet the legitimate interests and policies of the Soviet Union."

The West had sought ideas capable of immediate application because time was making

PRAYER FOR TODAY

While "summer suns are glowing over land and sea" we thank Thee, Lord, for all the beauty of the earth, for the wonder of each new day, for the revelations of Thy goodness which meet us on every hand. But when we look at the sorrow and sadness, which we can never escape, our hearts are saddened to think of "what man has made of man." Pardon us, O God. Give us new grace to live as Thou wouldst have us live. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

SYRIA DENIES B AND K VISIT

DAMASCUS (AP)—The Syrian foreign ministry today denied reports that Russia's Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev have been invited to Syria or will visit the country before the end of the year.

"It's just not true," said a Syrian spokesman of the report broadcast by the Israeli radio and published abroad by a British news agency.

Control Locks Blamed In B.C. Air Disaster

OTTAWA (CP)—The transport department said today a locked tail elevator was the cause of a crash at Port Hardy airport, B.C., killing 14 of 18 persons aboard a Pacific Western Airlines DC-3 aircraft June 23.

The report said that before takeoff the pilot was seen removing the rudder and aileron locks. The base engineer also noted that these parts were free, but did not check the elevators, the report added.

The airline's operations manual required the pilot-in-command "to assure himself that the elevator control locks are removed before flight."

They Heard Missile, Japanese Believe

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japanese meteorologists today said they have reason to believe that a nuclear explosion in Russia on Aug. 22 was caused by a missile-borne device.

High-altitude shock waves were recorded at Kyoto University on that date.

Weatherman Glum on Holiday Prospect

Weatherman William Macle was less than enthusiastic today in viewing the weather outlook for the holiday week-end.

"I can't give a forecast that far ahead," he said, "but I can say that there is a storm near the Queen Charlotte Islands, and the high pressure ridge that gave us our nice weather this week is collapsing slowly."

"In addition, the weather always seems to get touchy near a major holiday," he said.

Skies will be clear tonight, and temperatures will drop to the middle 40s in colder areas, he said. Friday will be essentially sunny, with the thermometer reaching to 74 degrees in sheltered locations.

MISSED PLANE BUT GOT GIRL

MONTREAL (CP)—Werner Pitsch, one of the Canadian tourists stranded nearly two weeks in Paris after a chartered flight mishap, counts his Paris stop-over well spent. "I certainly can't complain," he said. "Two days after we got stuck I met a beautiful young lady at the Canadian embassy. Now we're engaged."

New British Atom Tests Next Month

CANBERRA (Reuters)—A new series of British atomic tests at the Maralinga proving grounds will begin next month, Howard Beale, Australian supply minister, announced tonight.

The last series of British tests ended on June 10 this year when Britain's third hydrogen bomb was exploded high over the central Pacific after being dropped by an RAF jet bomber.

Beale said the weapons tested in the new series will be in the kiloton range. A kiloton is equivalent to an explosive force of 1,000 tons of TNT.

The tests will be conducted by the British government with the co-operation of the Australian government, he said, and observers from Commonwealth and allied countries will witness the tests.

U.S. Planning Second Test Of Missile

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Reports that a second United States missile may be shot from here this week circulated today following Wednesday's test-firing of a projectile with a range of 1,500 miles.

The defence department would not comment on whether the firing was a reply to Russia's claim that Soviet scientists have tested successfully an intercontinental missile able to deliver a hydrogen bomb anywhere in the world.

Neither would officials disclose whether the missile fired Wednesday was a Thor or a Jupiter. Both have ranges of 1,500 miles. The Jupiter was developed by the U.S. Army, the Thor by the Air Force.

The 50-foot Jupiter has been fired successfully before. Unofficial reports say one rose 700 miles in a previous test and travelled 1,650 miles over the Atlantic at an average speed of more than 5,000 miles an hour.

Reports before the firing were that the Jupiter would be tested Wednesday and the Thor would be fired Friday.

'Contains Nothing Of Genuine Value'

LONDON (AP)—Russia tonight turned down the West's plan for a limited disarmament program and insisted it contained nothing of "genuine value," a British informant reported.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin delivered his verdict shortly after the United States, Britain, France and Canada submitted a package plan designed to dispel the shadows of nuclear war.

In a 50-minute speech, the Russian declared that the West's working paper "cannot be considered as offering anything of genuine value."

The program, presented by the West and climaxing five months of often-acrimonious disarmament sub-committee meetings of the United Nations, spelled out a gradual shedding by the world's major powers of their armaments, including nuclear weapons.

Looking into the future, it urged that "outer space" be reserved for peaceful and scientific purposes, called for an international control organization for nuclear weapons and controls on the export and import of "designated armaments."

It urged creation of an international control organization under the United Nations security council which would see that provisions of the agreement were carried out. The proposals were put forward as a "package deal," the West said—the whole program must be accepted, not just parts of it.

Many of the proposals embodied in it already have been advanced in the sub-committee and have usually met with violent condemnation from Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin. The committee are the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

Proposals Joint NATO Effort

The United States originated the proposals but they were worked out jointly with Britain, France and Canada and cleared with the rest of the NATO allies. The 11 sections of the program make in essence these provisions:

1. Within a year of the agreement coming into force, the United States and Russia would limit their armed forces to 2,500,000 men and Britain and France to 750,000 each. At the same time each country would surrender an agreed amount of armaments to an international control organization.

Later there could be negotiations for a second and third stage reduction in armed forces, until American and Soviet forces were cut to 1,700,000 each, and British and French to 650,000 each.

2. Each country would keep the international control organization informed of its military expenditure.

3. Each country would undertake not to use nuclear weapons "if an armed attack has not placed the party in a situation of individual or collective self-defence."

4. One month after an international control system has been set up, no country would make fissile material for military purposes. Stockpiles of nuclear weapons would be reduced.

5. Each country would suspend, under international control, nuclear tests for 12 months. If a satisfactory inspection system was devised, and progress was made toward ending nuclear weapon production, tests would be suspended for another 12 months.

If, after two years, arrangements for prolonging the suspension broke down, countries might resume tests only by registering them in advance, by allowing limited international observation, and by limiting the

Neglect Charged In Falls Death

POWELL RIVER (CP)—A coroner accused the B.C. forestry department Wednesday of neglecting to install "even rudimentary safety devices" at the top of Chatterbox Falls.

The coroner, Dr. C. R. Marlett, said at an inquest there was no excuse for the death of Bruce Hastings, 20, of Vancouver, who was swept over the falls Tuesday.

The jury found that Hastings died accidentally.

The 120-foot falls at Princess Louisa Inlet are a scenic attraction which draw hundreds of tourists every year, Dr. Marlett said.

"But for some reason, the forestry department has neglected to provide even rudimentary safety devices at the precarious top of them."

He said there isn't even a railing for people to hang onto.

In Spring Young Russ' Fancy Turns to Tricks

PARIS (UP)—The International Amateur Athletics Federation has been asked to look into the strange case of Russian high jumpers who broke records with the help of super-secret track shoes suspected of acting like springs.

The shoes came to the attention of western observers in the recent Moscow sports festival where a little-known Russian by the name of Yuri Stepanov bettered Charlie Dumas's world record of 7 feet 0 1/2 inches by half an inch, and another Russian cleared 7 feet. Both wore shoes that looked strange.

No westerner was allowed to inspect them. But action photographs showed they were wearing something on their take-off foot that looked like an ordinary basketball shoe—except for a more than inch-thick second sole with over-size spikes tacked under the normal sole.

AGIN' CIVIL RIGHTS

Southern Senator Natters 15 Hours

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Strom Thurmond (Dem.-S.C.) conducted an around-the-clock, last-gasp filibuster today against the compromise civil rights bill.

Thurmond, the South's unsuccessful candidate for President as the States' Rights Party nominee in 1948, began his talk at 8:54 Wednesday night.

He was still talking at noon, 15 hours later.

His speech was not an uninterrupted one, however, so he was not near setting a filibuster record. He had breaks to talking one hour and five minutes. An aide said he did not believe Thurmond himself knew when he would quit.

Thurmond's speech forced the Senate into its longest continuous session since April 24-25, 1953, when Sen. Wayne Morse (Dem.-Ore.) set the filibuster record by talking 22 hours and 26 minutes without interruption against the tidelands oil bill.

COULD BE BASIS

France, the U.S., the United Kingdom and Canada, as the Western powers on the United Nations disarmament sub-committee, had presented proposals "which we believe can provide the basis for an agreement on a first stage of disarmament."

They could be given immediate effect, without political conditions, "so make a tangible contribution to world peace now by rendering more remote the danger of war."

He described as "a significant step towards disarmament" a proposal to reduce to 2,500,000 the armed forces of the United States and the Soviet Union and to 750,000 for France and the United Kingdom.

First-stage proposals would place certain armaments under international supervision in depots within the countries' own territories. "This will be a valuable introduction to more extensive reductions in armaments envisaged in the second and third stages, when the arms retained would be related to the reduced manpower ceilings," he said.

REVERSE THE TREND

The nuclear disarmament proposals were designed first to stop the atomic-arms race "and then reverse the trend by reducing the reserves of nuclear weapons."

Proposals to suspend nuclear test explosions while negotiating to cut off the production of fissionable material for weapons kept the matter in perspective.

"The proposals treat suspension of tests as a matter for immediate action while keeping the problem in proper perspective, for the ending of tests cannot end the nuclear armaments race."

FATHER'S BODY FOUND NEAR TRAGEDY SCENE

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—City police Wednesday night recovered the body of a fellow-officer from the St. Lawrence River, less than 50 feet from where he plunged to his death with his three children.

There was no sign of the bodies of the children, believed drowned by their father, Roland Masse, 42, chief of detectives, during a fit of depression Tuesday night.

Masse had spent two eight-day periods at the St. Francis of Assisi Hospital within the last three months for treatment of "mental disorders," hospital authorities said.

6. Within three months of the plan coming into force, all parties "will co-operate in the establishment of a technical committee to study the design of an inspection system which would make it possible to assure that the sending of objects through outer space will be exclusively for peaceful and scientific purposes."

7. This section reiterated the aerial inspection proposals tabled by John Foster Dulles, United States secretary of state, while visiting London Aug. 2.

Russia is offered the choice of an aerial inspection and photography zone either over the United States, Soviet Union and Canada, or in the Arctic.

If she accepts either, she is further offered a European zone.

8. The international control organization would be under the security council of the United Nations.

9. The control organization would have authority to study a system for regulating the export and import of "designated armaments."

10. Each country might suspend its obligations, wholly or in part, if it considered its security threatened as a result of violation of the disarmament convention by another country.

11. The provisions of the working paper were inseparable. The western powers were not committed to any one proposal unless the rest were accepted.

YOUTH

An army lieutenant outlined the soldier apprentice plan. Boys of 16 with Grade 8 can get thorough trades training, the equivalent of a "civvie street" education, military training and fine comradeship.

The plan was introduced in 1952. Since then many apprentice soldiers have gained Grade 10 educations and gone on to trade training from there. They get full pay at 17 and have 30 days holiday with pay. Seven years of service produces a man trained for many civilian jobs, betters him physically and mentally.

DISCOURAGED

Boys wanting to join to escape school are discouraged. School is part of the program.

A similar apprentice plan offered by the navy wants Grade 10 as a prerequisite. But at the same time, many trades are open for enlistment—even if the applicant only has Grade 8 and in rare cases Grade 7.

These include seaman, engineering mechanic, cook, steward, bandsman, communicator, and naval airman.

The air force will take men with low grade education for ground crew trades. But often, recruiting personnel will recommend, "Go back to school."

Each service offers a fine career with high pay and an adventurous life.

STILL ON CORNER

Recruiters claim a "terrific response" but apparently the message isn't getting across where it would do the most good.

The kids are still on the corner—and unless there is another Korea, most of them don't plan to join up.

Where is the solution? Employers say they can't provide jobs.

Educators say many are not equipped for further schooling. National employment officials say there is no use leaving town.

The kids themselves say they are shy of service life. You can't knock them on the head.

Some proposals are made in the final article in this series Friday.

Rubber Footwear

Import Cut Asked

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor and the Canadian rubber footwear industry Wednesday urged the federal government to take immediate measures to cut down the imports of footwear from low-cost labor countries.

In a brief presented to Finance Minister Donald Fleming, the combined industry-labor group asked that the government fix duties on the footwear so it would land in Canada at a price 10 per cent lower than that of average of lowest-cost Canadian-produced goods of the same type.

They also proposed the government negotiate an agreement with India to voluntarily limit shoe exports to Canada to 250,000 pairs a year.

The brief said that without some government intervention the 5,000 employees of the rubber footwear industry in Canada would soon be out of work.

BURNABY GIRL WINS PNE TITLE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Carol Lucas, stunning 18-year-old brunette, was chosen Miss PNE Wednesday night at the Pacific National Exhibition. Awards included $1,000.

Entered as Miss Burnaby, she won out over 18 other contestants.

Her victory automatically gives her also the title of Miss B.C. Lions and she will travel to Toronto in November to compete in the Miss Grey Cup contest.

Army Denies Secret Weapon 'Sterilizing'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Army said Wednesday an investigation has indicated no scientific basis for allegations that some Second World War soldiers were made sterile by a secret weapon experiment.

The secret weapons, never actually used in battle, were powerful arc lamps mounted on tanks. The idea was to suddenly switch them upon enemy troops, caught by surprise on a battlefield at night. The lights were expected to blind the enemy soldiers.

The idea was for allied rifle men, hidden behind the tanks, to pounce upon the brilliantly illuminated but blinded enemy troops.

Last June some of the estimated 3,000 or so U.S. soldiers who were exposed to the powerful lamps said they believed the light machines may have made them unable to father children. After a number of newspaper items appeared, quoting veterans who were exposed to the lights, the army promised an investigation.

The army announcement Wednesday said the matter now has been thoroughly investigated and "there is no valid scientific basis which could support the newspaper allegations."

Railway Revenues In Canada Down

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company Wednesday announced net earnings of $3,047,213 for July, 1957, compared with $3,679,725 in the corresponding month last year.

Gross earnings last month were $42,434,848, down from $43,098,211, while working expenses were $39,387,635, down from $39,418,486 in July, 1956.

For the first seven months of 1957, net earnings totalled $18,192,293, down from $19,150,101 in the corresponding period last year. Gross earnings were $281,962,744 against $285,972,710, while expenses were $263,770,481 against $266,822,609 in the first seven months of 1956.

Sinking With 94 Lost Probed in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The captain and crew of an American freighter were questioned today in an effort to determine the cause of a collision that sank an Argentine river boat and left 94 persons missing.

All the missing persons were among the 247 persons aboard the river steamer City of Buenos Aires. No one aboard the freighter Mormacsur, owned by Moore-McCormack Lines of New York, was injured. Only slight hope now is held that some of the missing might have reached safety after the riverboat went down Tuesday night in the Uruguay River 78 miles north of Buenos Aires. Argentine officials said Capt. Kenneth J. Sommers and other crew members of the Mormacsur were "being detained incommunicado." They stressed that such procedure is normal to give authorities the opportunity to take testimony.

The 3,754-ton City of Buenos Aires went down before lifeboats could be launched. Most survivors went into the water in lifejackets.

A government report said 153 persons—66 crew members and 87 passengers—were rescued from the river steamer. Survivors said many of those lost were old people and children. Missing is Silverio Brizuela, captain of the City of Buenos Aires. Local newspapers report that the 53-year-old captain shot himself in the head while standing on the bridge a few moments after the collision, but there has been no confirmation.

Pearson Urges NATO Chief In N. America

NEW YORK (CP) — L. B. Pearson, Canada's former minister for external affairs, says NATO needs a supreme commander in North America as well as in Europe.

Writing in Western World, a new magazine published in English and French, Pearson says the defence of the North American Arctic is vital to the success of NATO's mission.

But he adds: "There is no NATO North American land or air command, no NATO North American commander, and no evidence that plans for the land and air defence of this region have yet been co-ordinated with those for the European NATO regions."

"Who decides that all-out aggression has begun?" Pearson asks, "and who decides when to press the button which brings about air retaliation through nuclear strategic bombing?"

Records Cleared For 6 'Witches'

BOSTON (AP) — The state of Massachusetts has wiped from the books the convictions of six women unjustly accused of being witches 265 years ago. It is hoped that many will stage the pageant sometime during Centennial Year, committee chairman L. J. Wallace said today.

Saanich Studies 7 Proposals For Hall Space

New Saanich Council committee charged with the job of finding more room for over-crowded municipal employees started its work Wednesday night.

Chairman George Chatterton outlined seven alternatives to the permanent hall addition which will be investigated.

As much as 7,000 additional square feet may be required, Coun. Chatterton said. There are 6,000 square feet at the Royal Oak Hall.

Giving a "minimum amount of office space consistent with a certain measure of efficiency" as the committee's goal, Coun. Chatterton listed these possibilities which he will investigate: Construction of a building similar to the proposed permanent hall addition which was rejected by ratepayers, but eliminating expensive features such as air conditioning.

HALL ANNEX

Purchase of a building on the Royal Oak School grounds for conversion as a hall annex;

Adding two floors of 1,000 square feet each to the south-west side of the hall.

Reeve Arthur Ash, ex-officio committee member, will look into the possibility of a prefabricated structure.

Committee member Eugene Diespecker will look into the possibility of leasing the adjoining Women's Institute Hall, while Councillor Ainslie Worthington will hunt for other suitable places to lease.

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Teams of rescue workers dug frantically for 12 hours at tons of rock deep in a gold mine here Wednesday to save one of their buddies trapped by a fall of stone. But they lost their race against time to reach a second.

Jean Morrisette, 38, the father of nine children, died before rescuers could reach him.

Several hours earlier Morrisette spoke to rescue workers as they clashed desperately at the rocks entombing him at the 4,000-foot level of the Tech-Hughes mine.

He was given a shot of morphine to deaden his pain and was heard snoring shortly after.

An hour before Morrisette's body was recovered, rescuers freed James Maxwell "Max" Parker, 65-year-old shift boss, pinned by an arm and leg to a mine wall.

MAY LOSE FEET

He was taken to hospital in good condition and high spirits, but Dr. W. C. Runble said Parker's feet might have to be amputated, "although that's only a guess."

Morrisette's wife Lucy and his two sisters, red-eyed from crying, kept a day-long vigil at the mine head, surging forward each time a load of rubble was brought to the surface.

Rescue operations were slow because of the cramped quarters which limited the work crews to four of five men.

Mrs. Morrisette, whose children range from a newborn baby to a 10-year-old, was led away weeping before her husband's body was brought to the surface.

Mine manager G. C. Gilchrist, who supervised the rescue work, said he spoke to Parker while the shift boss was still trapped.

He said Parker told him: "Tell my wife I'll be a little late for supper tonight."

HEARD SLIDE

Miner Bill Cochran, working near the trapped men, heard the slide of muck — stone and slate — at 10 a.m.

He said: "I saw a head, body and arm protruding out of the muck and then I saw the staggering had fallen."

"Parker's legs were pinned to the wall and we had to block up the muck to prevent it from falling any more."

"I called the alarm and a chain of men were ready and worked in relays."

"I spoke to Max and he told me to get a doctor and lots of men."

"Then Morrisette yelled through the muck: 'Get me out, get me out.'"

"We gave Parker hot tea and a doctor reached Morrisette's hand under Parker to give him a needle."

Train Robbery Suspect Freed After Grilling

INGERSOLL, Ont. (BUP) — Police early today released one suspect held for questioning in the $5,000 robbery of a CN mail car. Other arrests were expected as police sought the three masked gunmen who pulled the daring holdup Wednesday.

Inspector Robert H. Wannell of the criminal investigation branch of the Ontario provincial police at Toronto said the 33-year-old suspect was arrested Wednesday night at his home in London, Ont. He was released after seven hours of questioning.

The three gunmen, brandishing pistols and working in Jesse James style, entered the mail car after the passenger train had left Woodstock en route from Toronto to Windsor.

Postal workers in the car said they were forced into a small washroom and closet and locked in after the gunmen had rifled the mail sacks for money and cheques.

The bandits jumped off the train during a two-minute stop here where police said they believed the men had a car waiting.

DIDN'T SAY MUCH

Arthur Harding of London, senior clerk in the mail car, said: "The first thing I knew was when I heard them say 'This is a holdup,' and I turned around and they were standing there with guns in their hands. They were wearing bandanas over their faces and dressed like railway men with peaked caps and denims. They didn't say much."

CN police director George A. Shea, attending a national convention of police chiefs in London, said the holdup might have been an inside job.

30-Year Suspension For Motorbike Rider

WALSALL, England (AP) — A court Wednesday ordered George Marlow to stay off his motorcycle until he is 87 years old. Earlier this year Marlow, 57, was disqualified temporarily from riding a motorcycle because of a minor infraction. Out for a ride last week, he was halted by police who recognized him as a suspended driver. The new suspension is for 30 years.

PLUCKY BRITON TESTS 'GROUND' EJECTION SEAT

PATUXENT, Md. (AP) — A plucky British airman has successfully made the first test in the United States of a new aircraft ejection seat which permits bail-outs at low altitudes — even near ground level — from speedy jets.

FO. Sidney Hughes of the RAF blasted himself out of a two-place navy Panther jet here Wednesday just as the plane left the runway at a speed of more than 130 miles an hour.

He was catapulted 80 feet into the air, and a parachute then followed out to drop him to a feet-first landing.

James Martin, inventor of the seat, told reporters it was only the second ground level test ever made by a man. The other was in England.

Navy Secretary Thomas Gates, who witnessed the demonstration, described the device as "the greatest thing in aviation safety since the parachute."

The demonstration clinched navy acceptance of the device. It has been ordered installed on 50 jet trainers.

Shopping Bag, My Eye, It's My Hat!

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Hat designer Luise Squire today was in trouble with the law. She got a traffic ticket because of one of her latest creations. The ticket read "driving a motor vehicle while wearing a shopping bag on her head."

Two officers Wednesday stopped Miss Squire in her convertible for distracting other drivers. "She was wearing a combination hand bag and shopping bag down over her head," Officer W. W. Wilhelm said. "She looked like something from Mars. Other drivers slowed up to look and we had a traffic jam on our hands." Miss Squire appeared undisturbed about the ticket but flew into a rage over how the officers described her hat. She said, "why I was wearing a mesh plastic hat—not a mess like they said. I designed it myself."

We Are Not Alone

ONE MIGHT SUPPOSE, FROM the utterances of some politicians and some businessmen who should know better, that Canada is the only nation in the world that enforces so-called "tight money"; that high interest rates were the diabolical native invention of blundering experts in the Bank of Canada.

As the Financial Post observes, "monetary authorities almost everywhere are maintaining or tightening their grip on the money supply, while the demand for money continues to press upward on interest rates. Since this spring no less than eight countries have raised their bank rates, some of them twice. They are the United States, France, Japan, India, Switzerland, Sweden, Spain and Belgium."

Are all these Governments wrong and only the Diefenbaker Government of Canada right? Is Canada uniquely immune to the laws of supply and demand which, under present inflationary conditions, are inevitably pushing up interest rates and have pushed them up still higher since the Diefenbaker Government came to office?

Recently our American neighbors have been holding a kind of national seminar on "tight money." The Federal Reserve Board, like our Bank of Canada, has been under fierce fire in the Congress for making money too expensive—that is to say, for refusing to expand the money supply and thus aggravate an inflation already serious enough, as every housewife knows.

The Federal Reserve Board seems to have survived the attack. It has not relaxed its policy. On the contrary, American interest rates have lately risen again. As a result—since we borrow so largely in the United States—our rates have risen also.

We are not suffering from some peculiar Canadian disease originating in the Bank of Canada. We are involved, as we must be, in the general economic processes of the world where we sell so much of our production and borrow so much of our capital.

"In such a world scene," The Financial Post rightly observes, "Canada could not deviate very far from U.S. policy, whatever Canadian sentiment might be. And in fact the inflationary pressures which demand a tight control on credit are worse in this country than in the United States. It is a serious matter when our costs rise more than American costs, and the unhappy story of import competition against Canadian manufacturers carries a dreadful warning. How long will it take labor and business to realize this?"

How long indeed? If we continue to raise our costs by the familiar wage-price spiral—a spiral which no monetary policy and no action by the central bank can possibly control—then of course our competitive position in the world market will be eroded, as has already happened in the British Columbia lumber industry.

The chief victims will not be the rich, who can look after themselves, but the workers whose jobs depend, more in this country than in most others, on exports.

The Financial Post is quite right also in saying that "an increase in the money supply appeals to some Canadians as a relief from immediate troubles. But at a time when wages, production costs and prices are all heading obstinately upward, the long-term effect would be to worsen the whole competitive position of the Canadian economy."

"Canada's economic troubles," The Post adds, "don't stem from monetary policy and monetary policy alone can't cure them. But monetary restraints remind us in concrete fashion that stability is of greater worth than the illusion of prosperity which comes from pocketing more and more dollars worth less and less."

Guided Missiles—Misguided Words

THE MANNER OF RUSSIA'S rejection of the West's disarmament proposal last Tuesday was as good an indication as any that the Soviet Union has developed a new super-weapon.

While that weapon—an intercontinental missile to carry an atomic warhead—may not be so perfected nor so powerful as Moscow announcements have boasted, still the Western consensus is that an advanced stage has been reached. This is probably ahead of Western achievement to date in the long-range guided missile field, although we reached the experimental phase some time ago.

Coming in the midst of the London disarmament talks, the Soviet announcement was obviously intended to influence that conference. Within hours Mr. Zorin, the Russian spokesman, had rejected the West's latest proposal for a two-year ban on atomic tests in what Mr. Eisenhower describes as "scornful words."

Here was no conciliatory attitude, no suggestion of possible compromise or future hope.

Typically, Mr. Zorin laid the blame for the stalemate at the West's door. It was the West that had increased armaments and especially atomic and hydrogen weapons to the detriment of peace, he said. Such language on Tuesday contrasted strangely with Monday's Tass announcement that Russia now has a missile capable of reaching "any part of the world."

The Russians have every right to perfect such weapons, just as the West has. But few outside the boundaries of the Soviet Union—and few, it is to be hoped, within—will be misled by the hypocritical accusations that accompany the work.

Moscow's current words and actions provide the strongest possible argument for continued Western armament. Apparently all that keeps boast and bluster from becoming aggression is the deterrent power of Western strength.

Needless Self-Denial

THE CITY OF MINNEAPOLIS, with a population of more than half-a-million, began to fluoridate its public water supply early this month. One-third of the people of Minnesota now have a fluoridated water supply and are enjoying the dental benefits which this confers.

Minneapolis thus joins the more than 30 million people on this continent who use water that has been treated with a fluoride salt. At one part per million of water the salt cannot possibly be detected by the user, yet its effects are remarkable.

Dozens of scientifically performed tests have proved that tooth decay in children can be reduced by as much as 75 per cent by using fluoridated water. The quantities used are so minute that putting the chemical into the water supply that is used by everybody is the only practicable way in which to distribute it.

Fluoridation is endorsed by the medical and dental associations of both Canada and the United States. Public health doctors support it. Its benefits have been proven beyond any reasonable doubt, as has its safety. Yet certain backward interests still oppose it and succeed in preventing the wider use of this obvious scientific advance.

It is as though certain parts of North America enjoyed the use of automobiles and radios while others viewed these objects with foreboding and refused to have anything to do with them. Sooner or later Victoria will get busy on the question of fluoridation and start to reap its advantages. Meanwhile we remain a backwater of lethargy and prejudice. The next generation will wonder what we were thinking of.

The Final Curtain

IT WOULD BE UNWISE AT THIS distance to read too much significance into the result of the Wisconsin by-election this week which sent a Democrat to the U.S. Senate to fill the seat of the late Joseph McCarthy. But on the surface it was a double victory for anti-McCarthyism forces.

The Republican candidate had won his entry into the by-election race as a strong supporter of the President whom the late Senator had so strongly attacked. That in itself seemed repudiation enough. But even this apparently was not sufficient. The party itself was defeated, and in a state which for the past 25 years has been strongly Republican.

There may well have been local issues and questions of personal popularity involved in the by-election campaign which could otherwise explain the voting results. But for many persons inside and outside the United States the facts will be taken at their face value. McCarthyism very definitely has not outlived its originator.

Eve and the Model T

ONCE upon a time, though the reader is far too young to remember it, the people of this land used to look forward to the color of autumn in the woods and fields. We have now progressed, thank Heaven, far beyond that primitive measurement of the seasons and look forward to the color of the new automobiles. Here (and in some other respects) nature and the automobile industry show sharp differences. Nature being an old-fashioned lady, with no imagination and no sense of the market either, always produced the same models every year. The flaming colors of the Laurentian forest, the duller hues in our western jungle, never changed. Nature has never yet mastered the secret of styling.

Hutchison

SHE could learn a lot from the genius of Detroit. There the car manufacturers do not reveal their autumnal surprises in advance. A wise and experienced priestcraft, they keep their secrets to themselves, thus exciting the worshippers to ecstasies of expectation until the inhabitants of North America are far more interested in the new car models than in the latest atomic weapon (the former being likely to kill more people than the latter).

At any rate, we are far more interested in the colors of cars than in the colors of nature which, beside the changing kaleidoscope of Detroit, are pretty drab and, indeed, unnatural. We are also more interested in the shapes contrived at Detroit than in any shape contrived by nature, even including those of Hollywood. In color and shape and also in speed, Detroit beats Hollywood all hollow.

HERE, as in so many other aspects of this best of all possible civilizations, you can see how the public taste is constantly improving.

Before Hollywood invented new ones with various curves and swellings, we were satisfied with the human figure as it had existed, with little alteration, since the time of Eve. Now we know better.

Hollywood, the dressmakers of Paris and the international foundation garment industry contrive, like Detroit, a new model every autumn until poor Eve, if she could appear today, would hardly be recognized as human, except in a nudist colony where the old models, I am told, still flourish and look as quaint as a Model T.

BY the same mechanical methods, and a similar use of paint, the designers of Detroit have made the Model T look as antique as Eve. In the current generation the number of people who have seen a Model T in life are hardly more numerous than those who have seen Eve, but as to the former I can testify that it was a magnificent model and I am willing to believe that Eve was, too.

I once owned a Model T in my own Garden of Eden and, until the top blew off on the main street with a shattering explosion, to the amusement of the vulgar, and the engine finally fell out after fifteen years of interrupted labor, my first car, unlike the first mother of the race, never betrayed me.

Detroit wasn't content to leave us in our garden and our innocence. It soon introduced the apple of temptation, of which the 1938 models are the latest improvement. And there is no modern Adam or Eve in North America strong enough to resist it. Say what you will, everybody in America, except me, is eager to own a new model.

YOU can see, therefore, that the genius of Detroit has altered not only the style of automobiles but the processes of the human mind. For the fact, of course, is that automobiles have been growing progressively more hideous every year until any man who had not seen them before, a man from Mars, for example, would pronounce them the most monstrous creation ever conceived by human intelligence.

He would suppose that any race manufacturing and, for the most part, living in these contrivances was a race of monsters.

It would be difficult for such a stranger, lacking the benefits of our progress, to understand that our taste is being constantly refined, to the point where we can perceive more beauty in an imitation fish-tail of painted steel than in the living tail of a salmon or a gold fish.

He would not realize that our imagination has reached a new pinnacle of sensitivity when a synthetic metal bloom on four wheels appears more beautiful to us than any flower growing from the earth.

HE could hardly believe it, though it's true, that a steel and glass container moving at sixty miles an hour is more comfortable to us and more attractive than a stationary house, that the automobile has replaced the fireplace as the symbol, shrine and altar of the home, which is now customarily built around a garage or car port to house and protect the monster before we think of protecting ourselves or our children.

Nay, the visitor from another planet would be incredulous to find that even the household's finances revolve mainly about this odd piece of mechanism, which must be fed with gasoline, license fees and insurance charges even if the owner and his children starve; and that if this system of nourishment lapses for a moment, if the automobile industry slows down, the whole North American economy must collapse with general starvation and ruin.

THOSE are the facts, mechanical, economic and spiritual. There is no mystery about the new models, except the temporary mystery arranged by the makers to titillate us into a new purchase.

The only mystery is how any ordinary family can pay the price of the new car. I am working on that but so far have reached no answer and hence am driving an old one. If a man is sufficiently old-fashioned, unlighted and tasteless, an old one does very well, though you need a strong mind and tough skin to endure the public's contempt.

DROP IN THE OCEAN

The deep sea is a vast living space: just how vast is difficult to imagine. The bare figures—two-thirds of the earth's surface covered to an average depth of 4,000 metres—do not convey a ready picture. Perhaps a better idea of its immensity comes across when we reflect that if all the land above sea level were dropped into only one ocean, the Pacific, it would sink far below the waves.

In response to a quiet knock on my door the other night, I was given a beautiful bunch of lovely flowers by a lady unknown to me. The other occupants of the apartment house received the same.

This dear lady has been making a practice of this regularly since early spring and I would like her to know how much this wonderful gesture is appreciated. It gives joy to many.

Oh Yah?

In reference to the recent controversy over the alleged subterfuges in Butchart's Gardens, I today came across these lines which were written by H. G. Wells in 1915. They seem particularly applicable today:

Run-Around

Why all this fuss about the "Circle" Roundabout? The council is running true to the Victorian tradition. It took 10 years debating to get a traffic light at Oak Bay Junction; they have not discussed the Roundabout quite that long yet. With an election approaching the simple, the silly, the irresponsible, the cowardly way to deal with the issue is to ask for a referendum—let the people decide! But the trouble is that 75 per cent of the voters don't use the Roundabout, don't know anything about its problems, and care less.

Why don't the council consult the people when they repair a sewer on Hillside Avenue, or about placing a stop-sign on Douglas Street? Such childish nonsense! This is a job for experts. The council have all the facts. Let them show some independence, some courage, and act. That is what they were elected for, what they are paid for; it is their business.

Cash and Carry Milk

Now, when attention is being focussed on the distribution of milk in Victoria, may be a good time to remind the public that the Canadian Association of Consumers' in presenting a brief to the Royal Commission on Milk in 1935, pointed out that consumers in this city area—were charged the same price when buying milk for cash in a store and carrying it home as if having it delivered to their homes.

Vancouver consumers, and those of many cities on this continent, have the privilege of buying milk for less, usually two cents per quart less, on a cash and carry basis.

To give some idea of how the public responds to a lower price even if the milk must be carried home, the record of one chain store system in Vancouver—the only one available to the Commission—showed:

Average sales before the lower price went into effect were 3,261 quarts per week. When the price was lowered one cent, sales gradually rose to 6,986 quarts per week. When the price was lowered two cents and paper cartons were used, sales rose in the last quarter of 1935 to 23,836 quarts per week. And in the third quarter of 1936 to 29,920 quarts per week.

To the above the Clyne Report adds, "It is clear that the consumer is anxious to take advantage of milk at a cheaper price and is responsive to price changes . . . It would therefore appear to be unnatural to deny the thrifty housewife a saving she can apparently make without any detriment to the producer." (pages 75 and 76).

The more fluid milk consumed the better for the producer and one supposes the more fluid milk sold by distributors the more profitable the operation of dairy processing plants.

Fresh milk still is considered an essential item of food, but B.C.'s per capita consumption as recently as last Spring was reported to be only two thirds of a pint per day.

With the lower price for milk in Vancouver stores, overall consumption of fluid milk increased in 1935 by 3.28%, in 1936 by 4.20% and in the first four months of 1937 by 7.32%.

Prior to this, in the years 1931 and 1932, fluid milk consumption in Vancouver fell by 2% and 1% respectively, in spite of a growing population.

Is there any real competition or enterprise among the milk distributors in Victoria? Not one has offered a lower price for store sales. All those firms involved in the current wage dispute with their plant and driver employees were advised of the willingness of a CAC committee to discuss the question of a lower price for milk sold for cash in stores, but none replied.

Germany at the Crossroads

THE currency crisis in France and Britain, with its resulting pressure on Germans to revalue their mark upwards, is an amazing sign of the times. Serious as the crisis seems, moreover, it is far less fundamentally significant than the development it has dramatized. This development is nothing more nor less than the re-emergence of so lately ruined Germany as a major power in the world. The excessive strength of the German mark on the world markets, the increasing weakness of British sterling and the French franc are symbols of a radical change in all the power relationships on this side of the Atlantic Ocean.

No adjectives seem adequate to describe the change in Germany which has produced this change in power relationships. When this reporter was last here, five years ago, the rubble had been tidied. Production had begun again. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had established a respected government.

But the occupation had not yet been liquidated. Defeated Germany was still in bonds. The high commissioners of the victorious Allies were still playing at being viceroys.

Real Heavyweight

A healthy, independent Germany then seemed possible and even highly likely. But nothing seemed more absolutely beyond the bounds of possibility than Germany's reemergence as the real heavyweight in the world balance of power.

The figures tell the story in their blunt, bleak way.

Starting with nothing, the Germany Treasury now has total reserves above five billion dollars, of which more than three and a half billion are in hard currency. Last year Germany enjoyed a favorable trade balance of more than one billion dollars. This year's outlook is as good or better.

From Our Files

Aug. 29, 1897—Tacoma: A Japanese steamer brings news of severe earthquakes in Japan on Aug. 5 followed by tidal waves and great floods. Thousands of houses were flooded and 200 persons died.

Aug. 29, 1917—London: Earl Grey, former Governor-General of Canada, died today after a long illness. The funeral will be held at Howick and a memorial service in London.

Aug. 29, 1937—Parfitt Brothers' tender of $47,555 for rebuilding the top of the post office building has been accepted by the Department of Public Works at Ottawa. The two upper stories were destroyed by fire last January.

Final Answer

But how will the new Germany's weight and power be made to count? The final answer, in this reporter's opinion, is the direct responsibility of the United States.

The new Germany is Europe-minded, and even minded to form an increasingly intimate partnership with her traditional enemy, France. If the United States takes the steps that are now needed to strengthen and restore the Western Alliance, then this new Europe-minded German power will remain firmly within the Western Alliance. And it will provide a great accession of Western health and strength.

But if the United States flaccidly permits the Western Alliance to become a mere empty facade (and this is why the responsibility is almost wholly American) then the new Germany will join the general game of "Save yourself and the devil take the hindmost." And after that, almost anything can happen. (1937 N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

The Pastoral Scene

TULIP must have had her calf sometime in the night. Because, when they looked out of the window in the morning, they could see her standing over it on the far side of the field.

The other cows were coming up, curiously, to inspect it. They didn't touch it. They sniffed and looked and moved away while Tulip nudged and licked her baby, and talked to it in the gentle voice of a new cow-mother. (Do you know the voice of a cow with a brand-new baby? It always startles me that such a big animal can make such a reassuring sound. Its tenderness is touching.)

Ruth

"A bull," said Grandpa. "And I was hoping for a heifer. Yes, you can touch it," he added to Visiting Child who had come across the pasture with him.

"Won't Tulip mind?" asked Visiting Child. "Not Tulip," said Grandpa. "Now Dinah, she'd be different. She's very nervous and fussy when she has a calf."

"I remember when Dinah had her first calf, I thought I'd let them run together in the field. That way the calf can feed when it wants to, and I think it's better for them. More natural. But Dinah was so fussy with that calf, I couldn't do it."

"She wouldn't let anyone near it. She even chased a hen away. As if a hen could hurt her precious calf!"

"In the end I had to put the calf in the barn because Dinah was so busy guarding it that she didn't have time to eat enough herself."

"Where's Dinah now?" asked Visiting Child. "She isn't with the others."

"Just noticed that?" asked Grandpa. "She is in that grassy patch beyond the willows. I saw her when we came across the field."

"Has she got a calf, too?" asked Visiting Child.

"Maybe. I'll have a look on our way back to the house."

So they left the tawny open field, and looked in the hidden place of the willow patch where the grass was damp and green, and the sunlight came dappled through the leaves.

"No calf yet," said Grandpa as Dinah, standing, looked at them, and moved restlessly from side to side.

"Alright, old girl, we'll leave you," said Grandpa.

And that's where Dinah had her calf in that peaceful grassy spot.

By afternoon, it was on its feet, and Dinah led it slowly through the bush. They passed the willows and the brambles, and the place where the bracken grows head high, and higher.

They followed a narrow cow trail through the alders until they reached the dim shade of the cedar place.

Tulip and her calf were already there.

Out in the field, the young stock grazed in the August sunshine.

But Tulip and Dinah stood quietly in the shade, and each had a watchful eye on her new calf where it lay, curled up, on the soft, dry ground below the biggest cedar tree.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Parkinson's Disease

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Hundreds of people ask what they can do about Parkinson's syndrome (group of symptoms). In this disease the person's face loses expression, and he may get a shaking palsy in one or both hands.

He is likely to walk bent over a bit with his hands held motionless near his groin, and he may walk in a peculiar way, shoving his feet ahead. He may be mentally slowed up, he may talk without expression, and he may feel as if his muscles were filled with glue. Fortunately, he will usually retain his good sense, his basic character, his old personality, and his ability to think. Thus, I remember a theoretical physicist with a severe form of this disease who was still able to make his very abstruse calculations.

In the cases of young people, the symptoms usually follow an encephalitis or inflammation of the brain. In older persons, the cause appears to be a small stroke or a series of small strokes. Many of these strokes come at night, and hence are not recognized.

The question is, what do you do? One can hardly hope for a cure, but only for relief. There are a number of drugs that physicians can try which sometimes cut down on the muscular stiffness and on the tremor.

Dr. Irving S. Cooper, of New York City, is sometimes able to stop the tremor by injecting a few drops of alcohol into a tiny area in the brain of these patients, and particularly of the younger ones. It is hoped that, with continuing research, even better results will be obtained.

MODERN PLANT MEDICINE

People like the anti-vivisectionists who hate medicine and doctors forget that everything that is ever discovered in human medicine is likely to be used quickly in animal or veterinary medicine. Perhaps, more remarkable yet, much of it is transferred to plant medicine. For instance, of late, agricultural experts have been excited about a marvelous new chemical, called gibberellic acid, which is a tremendous stimulator of plant growth. Much work must still be done on this substance, but the drug can make certain plants grow to two or three times their normal size; it causes them to grow and develop rapidly, and it may soon be making it possible for truck farmers to bring their produce to market much earlier than formerly. It causes plants to flower much earlier and to germinate quickly.

It can increase the number of leaves on a tobacco plant; it can create stronger and longer cotton fibers; it can cause celery and other vegetables to grow more rapidly and to produce giant poinsettias, geraniums, crysanthemums and roses. It can greatly change the appearance and shape of the leaves of various plants. Remarkable is the fact that it takes only one or two parts per million parts of water to work the wonders.

The drug was found in Japan in the late 1920s in a fungus which raised Cain with the rice plant. A relative of this fungus in America produces corn rot. Another chemical has been found which will stunt plants.

FALLOPIAN TUBES

Quite a few women are childless because their fallopian tubes are closed, probably as the result of some old infection. These tubes are essential to child-bearing because they carry the little ovum or egg from the ovary to the womb. The fact that they are closed is made clear when in the Rubin test, gas injected into the neck of the womb does not flow through into the abdominal cavity.

The woman may then ask if something can be done to reopen her tubes and make them serviceable again. Gynecologists tell me that sometimes a slightly blocked tube can be opened up by repeated injections of gas, but this may not restore function sufficiently well so that the woman can conceive and have the baby she wants.

Occasionally a woman will come to ask if her tubes, once tied to avoid pregnancy, can be opened again. She has remarried, and is now anxious to give her new husband a child. It is possible in some of these cases to restore continuity in one or both tubes, but the operation is a gamble, and no good surgeon would think of promising a good result.

Some women who have lost their tubes entirely during an operation wonder if some sort of a tube might not be constructed surgically. A surgeon could doubtless make a tube, but I cannot imagine his being able to make one that would function delicately in the way a normal tube must function if a woman is to conceive.

In rare cases a surgeon will transplant an ovary into the wall of the uterus, but, according to the last report I saw, this operation is rarely successful.

Catholic-Orthodox Unity Parley Target

LISLE, Ill. (AP) — Catholic scholars of Eastern and Western cultures assembled today to search for means of eventually uniting 200,000,000 Eastern Orthodox Christians with Rome. The four days of discussions and ceremonies at the Benedictine abbey of St. Procopius here form the second unio-nistic congress conducted at the direction of Pope Pius XII. It is a revival of congresses conducted in Czechoslovakia before that country became a Communist satellite.

At the first congress in Lisle last summer the participants reported sufficient interest among both Roman Catholic and Orthodox leaders to warrant a continuance of the talks. But all agreed that years of exploration will be needed before they may hope to mend a breach which has existed for centuries. The separation of Christians now known as Orthodox from those under the Roman Holy See was a continuing movement extending over hundreds of years. It became final with a papal decree in 1054.

Viewing the picture today, Abbot Ambrose of Ondrak of St. Procopius said:

"We know that defections from the Roman Catholic Church have quite frequently been the result of individual political or social conflicts which had at times only a very indirect bearing on the faith."

"Today, for the overwhelming portion, these basically non-religious differences have ceased to exist, especially for those who have suffered together in the crucible of God's less persecution."

Since the curl is caused by a fungus, the spray to use must be a fungicide. Insecticides and ovicides have no controlling effect.

Fungicides may be purchased under many trade names, but the long-used Bordeaux mixture is still considered the best control.

This may be used for trees situated in the open, but it stains stucco and painted wood walls. For trees trained to the wall of a residence be sure to ask for a spray which will leave the minimum of stain.

BEYOND REACH

The degree of control depends on the thoroughness with which the spray is applied to every part of the tree. Several trees examined this year had curled leaves on parts which were beyond the reach of the gardener. Complete control of peach leaf curl on wall trees is difficult because the surfaces facing the wall cannot be effectively sprayed. It is better to train such trees to a trellis, leaving sufficient room between wall and tree to operate the spray rod.

The undersides of the leaves as well as the top surfaces and all around the branches and shoots, must be thoroughly wetted, but not to a point which causes the spray to run off.

Canada Holds Edge In Seaway 'Battle'

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — A leading American transportation authority says Canada holds the trump cards in the numerous controversies which Canada and the United States will engage in over the St. Lawrence seaway. Marvin J. Barloon, professor of economics at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, and a consultant to industry and the United States government on transportation matters, says international tension has marked the seaway since its inception.

Mr. Barloon, in an article in the current issue of Harper's Magazine, entitled "The Coming Battle of the St. Lawrence," said the most serious defect in the seaway will be the bottleneck at the Welland Canal, which lies wholly within Canada.

He said the canal cannot carry more than 50,000,000 tons of cargo annually and the United States will demand the lion's share.

"The Canadians are counting heavily on the seaway as an outlet for grain," Mr. Barloon said. "The Welland Canal is an all-Canadian waterway, built on Canadian soil with Canadian money. Why should American traffic block Canadian shipments out of Canadian waters?"

Mr. Barloon then posed this question: "If the Welland Canal is to be enlarged, who will pay for it?"

FORESEES RAIL BATTLE
"Spokesmen for the Eastern railroads and the Atlantic and Gulf ports will rise with redoubled, persuasive indignation against burdening the American taxpayer with the improvement of an all-Canadian facility. But if the Canadians do it themselves it will not be to accommodate the traffic of our industries."

"The seaway has been marked by international tension from its inception. When the U.S. con-

Fallout 1,000 Times Weak To Kill Mice, Tests Show

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — It takes about 1,000 times as much radiation as there is in present fallout from atomic weapons to shorten the life of a mouse, a team of investigators for the United States Atomic Energy Commission reported today.

There are many possible errors in this calculation, the researchers said, but it gives a quick picture of what might be expected. They used mice because of their normally short life span—two to three years—and because they could work with hundreds of them instead of with a few larger animals.

Results of the test were reported to the American Institute of Biological Sciences by Dr. Milvan P. Finkel. Associated with her were Birute O. Biskis and Gertrude M. Scribner. The work was done at the Argonne National Laboratory at Lemont, Ill.

The investigators used 810 mice subjected to varying doses of radioactive strontium, the principal long-range hazard which comes from the debris of uranium or plutonium fission bombs.

Mice given the heaviest doses soon died of radiation sickness. Intermediate doses produced many tumors in the lymph glands and bones of the animals. The lightest dose, the researchers said, was 10 times the dose now prescribed as safe for humans working with atomic materials.

The average amount needed to shorten a mouse's lifetime turned out to be about twice the supposedly safe dose for man and "about 1,000 times the most pessimistic estimate of current human contamination from fallout."

VANCOUVER—Chief Constable George Archer will stay on the job next year, even though it means a $5,000 cut in salary.

WOULD UP BORROWINGS

VANCOUVER — Alderman George Miller, deputy chairman of the city's board of administration, said Wednesday he will ask for a new evaluation of the city's borrowing power.

City council recently instructed its technical planners to cut estimates for essential projects in the city's five-year development plan to $50,000,000 from $74,000,000. It based the move on a belief the city's borrowing power was $77,000,000.

Hospitals Plan Asiatic 'Flu Defence

A joint committee of Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospital officials is planning to meet a possible Asian flu epidemic here this year.

Although the virus itself is not expected to send residents to hospital, absence from duty of staff members in large numbers would be serious to hospital operation.

There could also be a large number of admissions where flu combines with pneumonia, heart disease or diabetes.

So far no Asian flu has been detected in this area and officials say there is no cause for alarm. The flu does not present a major hazard to "normal healthy individuals."

But there is concern over the effect of the disease on Victoria's large population of elderly people who already suffer heart and respiratory ailments and diabetes.

Flu vaccine is expected to be available in limited quantities and would be dispensed where necessary to control any epidemic.

Two suspected cases have been found in Vancouver. Swabs and blood samples have been sent to the only Canadian viro-laboratory in Ottawa. Victoria medical health officer Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy said the same routine would be taken with first suspected cases here.

She said symptoms would be carefully noted and the first or "index" cases, would be verified as to type of virus, at Ottawa.

If Asian flu should be found, all subsequent cases would be decided on the basis of matching symptoms.

She said so far, MHOs have not been authorized by the provincial health department to work with hospitals in organizing a defence against the flu.

All Women Victims Of Unusual Mishap

PRINCE RUPERT (BC)—Three women are dead here after eating a meal Monday which included salmon-canned salmon eggs.

BOTULISM LIKELY

Mrs. Nina Lund, 60, died Wednesday. Her daughters, Mrs. Anne Boser, 34, and Miss Lucinda D. Wesley, 36, both employees of a cannery, died Tuesday after they were taken to hospital.

A physician said he believed they died of botulism, a kind of food poisoning. It was the first such case ever reported here.

The chief sanitary inspector of Victoria, Esquimalt, commented last night that the botulism was probably "manufactured" in the salmon eggs during the preserving process.

Elwood S. Grupp described the case as very unusual and unheard of in the Victoria area. He said he never had any knowledge of persons canning salmon eggs.

MPs Ask Fast Action By PM to Save Mines

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eleven British Columbia members of Parliament Wednesday wired Prime Minister Diefenbaker asking the federal government to take "emergency action" to keep metal mines operating.

The telegram resulted from a meeting here between the MPs and representatives of International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind). The union sponsored the meeting and called on all B.C. MPs to attend.

MPs signing the statement were: John Taylor and Ernest Broom, Conservatives; James Sinclair, Liberal; H. W. Herd, Alex MacDonald, Erhart Regier, and Harold Winch, CCF; Thomas Irwin, George McLeod, George Hahn, and Frank Christian, Social Credit.

In particular danger of closing is the Britannia Beach mine, 40 miles up the coast from here, where workers were told earlier they would have to take a 15-per-cent wage cut for the mine to keep operating.

'Bedroom Stories' Speak Volumes at Libel Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Bedroom stories" about Corinne Calvet, Dorothy Dandridge, Frank Sinatra and Alan, Dale have thrown the Confidential magazine libel trial into a tizzy.

Other famous movie names are falling like rain as the case moves toward its end.

The prosecutor and a defence witness got into a lively squabble Wednesday afternoon over the question: "What is a 'bedroom story'?"

Prosecutor William L. Ritzl was trying to establish that Confidential filled its pages with material he said was on a level with "washroom stories" in obscenity.

CONFUSION OF TERMS

"Has the magazine always had as many bedroom stories as it does now?" Ritzl asked Albert de Stefano, Confidential's legal adviser.

"What do you mean?" de Stefano inquired. "I don't know what a bedroom story is."

"Stories like the ones about Sinatra, Dale, Dandridge—that's supposed to have happened somewhere else, in the woods—and the Calvet stories," Ritzl said.

De Stefano stuck to his contention that he didn't know what Ritzl meant.

Judge Herbert V. Walker called a recess until Friday morning and told Ritzl:

"I'll give you until then to decide on a definition."

Did June Allyson have a romance with Alan Ladd?

That question was brought up by the defence in attempting to support its case for the article, "How Long Can Dick Powell Take It?" The defence alleged Miss Allyson was carrying introduced gossip columns and ing on with Ladd while both a fan magazine article which were married to others.

U.S. Eases Controls On Goods to Poland

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Wednesday eased export controls on goods destined for Poland, giving the Communist nation a trade status nearly equal to any of the United States' friendliest allies.

The move opened the way for Poland to get such U.S. goods as industrial machinery, steel mill products, machine tools, electrical machinery and vehicles.

Also Poland now can import surplus U.S. agricultural commodities on a bartered basis, something hitherto impossible. The relaxation of controls was promised last June when the two countries signed an economic agreement providing Poland a U.S. loan of nearly $49,000,000 for the purchase of American agricultural products and mining machinery.

Those negotiations, which lasted 3½ months, came after President Eisenhower last February promised help to Poland or any other Red nation which demonstrated a will to assert its sovereignty and independence of Russian domination.

BIG GROUP

The British Commonwealth accounts for about one-third of the total trade in the free world.

PLEASURE AFLOAT

Take Care of That Battery For Trouble-Free Boating

Electrical systems on small craft are subject to many ills. Some are due to overloading and others to faulty installation, but all can be avoided by careful attention to the few details that insure reliable operation.

The power source, usually a storage battery, is the first consideration. Like any container in which something is to be stored, a storage battery of a given capacity is capable of holding just so much and no more.

Practically all inboard marine engines and some outboards are equipped with generators to replenish the charge in the battery as fast as it is discharged. The output of these generators is limited according to their rating. Therefore if the electrical system load is greater than the generator output the additional power must be supplied by the storage battery. If the overload continues for too long a period, the battery will be completely discharged. Then you will be out of luck, since there will be no power available to operate the engine starter.

NO GENERATOR

Many outboard motors are equipped with electric starters requiring storage batteries for their operation, but have no generator for battery charging. These batteries are usually in a container with a carrying handle to facilitate their being taken to a place where charging facilities are available. It is essential that such battery units be as light in weight as possible and therefore their capacity is the minimum suitable for starting duty.

Some battery containers for outboard service have built-in, rectifier type charging units. With such equipment it is possible to charge the battery from dockside power without removing it from the boat.

If the boat is trailed, the charging unit may be plugged into an outlet at home. Since removal of the battery from the boat is eliminated with such charging units, heavier batteries of higher capacity may be used.

STARTER USE ONLY

When an engine is not provided with a generator it is desirable from the standpoint of safety that the battery be used for starter use only. This does not mean that necessary equipment cannot be electrically operated. If the boat is to be used extensively for night operation, navigating lights powered by flashlight batteries are readily available and eliminate all need for wiring.

This is an important feature because wiring on a boat can be an endless source of trouble on a boat unless it is properly installed. Radio receivers with self-contained battery power are much handier on a small boat than those that are dependent on the storage battery for their source of energy. Most radio direction finders designed for small boat use have a built-in power supply that operates from self-contained batteries.

CLC Executive Meeting Likely On Strike Crisis

OTTAWA (CP)—A special meeting of the executive council of the 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress may be called to discuss means of settling the violence-ridden strike of copper miners at Murdochville, Que.

This possibility developed today after CLC president Claude Jodoin received from Prime Minister Diefenbaker a refusal to intervene in the five-month strike in the Gaspé Peninsula town.

The Prime Minister said intervention such as sought by the congress chief in an interview Wednesday would constitute a breach of the British North America Act, since the mining operation is under provincial labor jurisdiction.

Mr. Jodoin—who spent about an hour with the Prime Minister, said his next move would be to consult with CLC associates. Officials said this could mean summoning the 16-member executive council from all parts of Canada.

The labor chief wanted to get Mr. Diefenbaker to have federal influence used to break an impasse at Murdochville, where about 1,000 members of the CLC's United Steel Workers of America are involved in a strike. The union has been denied certification as bargaining agent through a Quebec court writ of prohibition.

Quebec Premier Duplessis, in a letter received Wednesday by Mr. Jodoin, turned down the labor chief's request that the premier convene a government-union-company meeting with a view to settling negotiations resumed.

President Jodoin also got no action Wednesday on a suggestion that immigrants hired at Murdochville since the strike began might be deported for anti-union violence.

Four Seamen Rescued From Ice Floe

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—The U.S. Air Force reported today four of 19 Norwegian seamen have been lifted from an Arctic ice floe where they had been marooned five days.

The USAF expected the other 15 would be plucked to safety later today.

A helicopter based at Thule, Greenland, picked up the four Wednesday and landed them at Mestervig, an airstrip some 750 miles from Thule.

The USAF said the men all appeared to be in good condition and apparently had not suffered from exposure.

The seamen fled to the ice floe after their 292-foot wooden freighter, Polarbjørn, was crushed Sunday in an ice pack. The ship's mission in the Arctic could not be learned.

Toothpick Brings $10,565 Law Suit

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—James L. Goudreau of Detroit claims the toothpick a Lansing hotel gave him is worth $10,565. In a court suit, Goudreau says the hotel served him the toothpick inside of a hamburger, that it stuck in his throat and he "became sick, sore, disordered and suffered grievous pains, injury medical expenses and loss of earnings from employment to the total damage of $10,565."

ELECTRIC BRAINS AFRAID OF MAN?

CALAIS, France (UP)—Frenchman Maurice Dagbert said today no American electronics firm as yet has taken up his challenge to match their best "electronic brains" against his own mathematical mind.

Dagbert, 44, who already has put Swedish and French machines to shame, issued his challenge through the French press and radio.

Although he never went past junior high school, the quick calculating Frenchman works out problems involving 35 figures in a matter of seconds without pen or prompting. One of his feats is computing the cube roots of 20 numbers while sightreading violin music.

Mr. Diefenbaker said after the meeting that there could be no deportation without a court conviction, and no prosecutions had been lodged.

Famous Mystery Story Writer Craig Rice Dies Following Fall

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mystery writer Craig Rice, 49, whose tough, hard-boiled characters fought and shot their way through 25 books, was found dead in her apartment Wednesday night.

She had been in ill health for some time and confined to her bed for a week. Cause of death was not disclosed.

Miss Rice's body was discovered by another mystery writer, R. DeWitt Miller, owner of the apartment building.

He told police she had fallen earlier and complained of a headache. When he returned from a drug store with medicine she had requested he told her she should call a doctor, but she refused.

Four hours later he went to see how she was getting along and found her dead.

Miss Rice, a native of Chicago who was born in a horse-drawn carriage at a downtown intersection, took her pen name, Craig, from her second husband. She was married five times, and her full name was Mrs. Georgiana Ann Randolph

Walker Craig Lipton de Mott Bishop.

She began writing poetry at nine. At 18 she was writing for Chicago newspapers, and at 19 for radio.

Her best-selling mysteries included Having Wonderful Crime, The Sunday Pigeon Murders, Trial by Fury, The Lucky Stiff and under the pen name Daphne Sanders, To Catch a Thief.

She also wrote the screen plays for Home Sweet Home, Underworld Story and Having Wonderful Crime.

HE LOST CONTROL

... REALLY!

MONTREAL (CP)—Gaston Pelouin, 44, of nearby St. Lambert, may confront his car with fear and respect today.

At an intersection Wednesday:

1. He backed into two oncoming cars;
2. Drove forward and hit a motorcycle;
3. Hit a parked ambulance;
4. Turned a corner and nicked two more cars.

No charges were laid. Police said Pelouin "lost control" of the car.

Hey, Mike, the Ball Is on This Side!

Nanaimo forward Mike Good (bending) peers intently behind Shamrock goalie Gordie Johnston to see if linemate Don Ashbee clicked on scoring sortie. Ashbee didn't, as ball (at extreme lower right) scoots

YANKS WIDEN LEAD

Casey's Grin Curls Again

By the United Press

Casey Stengel's two famous trademarks—the wink and the impish grin—finally were back in place today as he basks a chipper skipper who knows he has just about wrapped up his eighth pennant in nine tries.

The Yankees restored that long-absent Stengel grin Wednesday night when they widened their American League lead to a full-blown 5½ games by knocking over the ambitious Chicago White Sox for the second straight night, 5-4.

"That's the one we needed," declared the jubilant Yankee manager after the game, leaving little doubt he considered the second-place White Sox dead even though his club had to face them once more today in the last game of what had been advertised as a "crucial series".

Don Larsen was the winner, but the hero was reliever Bob Turley, who was summoned from the bullpen for the second successive night and nailed down the Yankee triumph. Turley first got Larsen out in the sixth inning, then worked himself out of a bases-loaded situation in the seventh after yielding a two-run homer to Earl Torgerson.

BAUER BELTS ONE
Hank Bauer hammered his 15th homer of the year in the seventh off loser Billy Pierce. Baltimore Orioles staged the biggest offensive in their history to maul Cleveland Indians 19-6, while Washington defeated Kansas City 3-2 and Boston beat Detroit 10 on Ted Williams' 33rd homer of the season.

In the National League Brooklyn Dodgers took over second place with a 14-inning 4-3 triumph over Chicago Cubs; New York Giants crushed the Milwaukee Braves 12-6, slicing their lead to seven games; Cincinnati climbed back into first division with a 6-5 win over Philadelphia, and Pittsburgh blanked St. Louis 2-0.

Gus Triandos and Tito Francona paced Orioles to their one-sided victory over the Indians. Triandos hitting a pair of homers and driving in five runs while Francona drove in four runs with four hits. Connie Johnson struck out 12 men in posting his 12th victory.

TWO-HITTER
Williams' homer came in the seventh inning and was one of the two hits allowed by Jim Bunning, who absorbed his seventh loss. Big Frank Sullivan gave up 10 hits but was helped to his 11th victory by three Red Sox double plays.

"Pinch hitter Elmer Valo produced Brooklyn's victory over the Cubs with a 14th inning single off Dave Hillman that scored Randy Jackson from third.

Giants broke loose for eight runs in the third inning, their biggest rally of the season, in sending Gene Conley of the Braves down to his seventh loss. Don Mueller, Hank Sauer and Valmy Thomas drove in three runs apiece.

Redlegs blasted Curt Simmons and Jim Hearn for six runs in the second inning and then hung on to edge the Phillies. Wally Post's 17th homer with one on highlighted the rally. Robin Roberts made his first relief appearance since being lifted from the starting rotation and blanked Cincinnati on three hits for 5½ innings.

Right-hander Ronnie Kline of the Pirates reeled off his fourth straight win and sixth of the season in holding the Cardinals.

Two-Ball Squads Tied for Honors
Mrs. E. Jackson and Miss R. Barratt tied with Mrs. W. G. More and Miss M. Milburn in the two-ball foursome competition at Uplands Golf Club Wednesday. Both teams had net 75.

In other Uplands action, Miss K. Youdall captured the Windermere Cup over runner-up Mrs. P. J. Ferguson.

Mrs. A. Swan won the consolation round over Miss Milburn.

PETES THUMP HAMILTON TO REACH EAST FINAL

PETERBOROUGH, Ont.—Peterborough Timbers moved into the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals here Wednesday night by blasting Hamilton Lincolns, 14-7, in the sixth game of a scheduled best-of-seven semi-final series.

Peterborough, Mann Cup finalists last season, won the series 4-2. But the surprising Hamilton club made a great bid for a berth in the final, winning two straight games after losing the first three to the powerful Timbers.

Hamilton ended Peterborough's three-year home winning streak last Saturday with a 17-16 overtime triumph, then forced a sixth game with a victory at Hamilton Monday night.

Peterborough now meets Long Branch Pontiacs in the best-of-seven finals, the first game scheduled Friday night.

CHEATING IN FOOTBALL

Don't T

DON'T

VANCOUVER (CP)—Football writer Annis Stukus says that Calgary Stampeders cheated Monday night to score the touchdown that defeated British Columbia Lions 22-20.

Stukus, former coach of the Lions, wrote that the rules "state definitely that a backfielder cannot block past the line of scrimmage unless he is stationed outside the ends before the ball is centred.

"At no time is a backfielder permitted to go through the line to lead the way for a ball-carrier, either by contact with men past the line of scrimmage or by screening them from getting to the ball carrier."

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees, striving to strengthen their injury-riddled pitching staff for the stretch drive, may be balked for a second time in an effort to obtain Brooklyn's Sal (The Barber) Maglie, one-time scourge of the National League.

In 1953, Cleveland Indians refused to pass on the 40-year-old right-hander when he was placed on the waiver list by New York Giants after pacing the National League club to the 1951 and '54 championships.

This time it is the Chicago White Sox, who trail the Yankees by 5½ games, standing in the road of the American League champions. And it is dollars, more than the $10,000 waiver price, that will decide the issue.

Chuck Connors, vice-president of the White Sox, said they claimed Maglie the first time he was placed on the waiver list but the Dodgers withdrew him.

"This time, we let him go through and will bargain for him," Connors said.

The Yankees also waived on the Barber the second time around, thus setting up the battle of dollars for a pitcher who hurled a no-hit game for Brooklyn against Philadelphia Phillies last year and compiled a 13-4 record after being obtained from Cleveland after the season was well under way.

Under the waiver clause, all clubs in the National League first must waive on Maglie, who is said to be receiving $30,000 for pitching this year. Then all American League clubs, starting with last-place Washington, also must waive. A club is permitted to withdraw a player's name only once.

New Westminster, heavy favorites to win it all after coming up with several clutch victories this season, blew a 2-1 half-time lead.

Centre-forward Bob Donaldson scored two goals to pace the North Shore attack while right-half Bob Swinton scored the other goal, the tying marker.

New Westminster scorers were outside-right Bill Percy and centre-forward John Halley.

Surry 267 for 7 vs. Essex. Yorkshire 98 and 53 for 3. Glamorgan 73. Sussex 260. Somerset 62 for 2.

CHEATING IN FOOTBALL?
Stukus said that when Ron Clinkscale carried the ball twice in a row for 10 yards for the game-winning touchdown, fullback Don Caraway led the play through the hole, screening tacklers from getting to the former Lion player.

"That, in Canadian football is illegal," Stukus wrote. "When a team plays like that they are beating the rules deliberately. They are cheating."

"I know Calgary did it because it was admitted to me after the game. The films verified it."

Stukus said he wasn't criticizing the Stampede. He laid the blame for the evasion of the rules on the officials.

"I know that the WIFU lobbied at the Canadian Rugby Union meeting to have the rules changed to permit blocking by backs. It was turned down."

"The fact that teams wanted it does not permit the officials to let the teams do it."

Herb Capozzi, general manager of the Lions, said the club has wired WIFU commissioner Syd Halter in Winnipeg asking him or his representative to review the film of Monday's game.

"We aren't protesting the film or trying to get nasty," Capozzi said, "but we do want clarification of some of the calls the officials made."

Writing on Wall Earlier, But Penalties Did Trick

Skip Will Skip Saturday Because Of Swinging Stick

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Whitey Severson picked his limb Tuesday. "If you want my prediction," the Victoria Shamrock coach was heard to say, "I think we'll wrap up this series in five games, but we'll have to win Saturday's game in Nanaimo."

The Rocks, leading their best-of-seven Inter-City Lacrosse League final 1-0 as a result of Wednesday's 10-7 victory, saw their chances of taking the second meeting enhanced because of the actions of a Timberman player.

At the same time, you might say, Nanaimo's Skip McKay went out of his way to help Severson's prophecy come true. It hasn't yet, but time could tell.

McKay didn't help alleviate Nanaimo's manpower shortage. The fiery forward took a match misconduct Wednesday at Memorial Arena, before 4,223 cash customers, and automatically draws a one-game suspension.

As a result, the Skipper joins playing-coach Harry Wiper, Derry Davies and Gogie Stewart on the sidelines for the next encounter. Wiper and Davies are both injury victims while Stewart is busy with soccer playoffs on the mainland.

There's a chance Stewart may still get into Saturday's act, but one still can't speak too highly of Nanaimo's fortunes with the likes of Wiper, Davies and McKay sitting by and watching.

McKay, a sterling standout for the T-Men Wednesday, took violent objection to the officiating and went after referee Earl MacDonald. McKay's stick sliced MacDonald's forehead and the Nanaimo ace promptly found himself on the way out.

While penalties played a major role for Rocks' first victory, there are indications that the handwriting was on the wall midway in the third period.

In all, Rocks counted five of their goals while holding the odd-man advantage. Timberman counted three while Rocks were short-handed.

Blonda, Bradshaw... and then Jack Northup. The latter, playing one of his best games of the season, scored twice more before the period ended to stake Victoria to a 7-6 lead after the third quarter.

McKay potted one early in the fourth to deadlock the issue once again but that was a last gasp from Nanaimo. A rash of penalties and two quick goals by Blonda, the league-scoring champion, put the T-Men in the deep freeze.

Shamrocks appeared rusty after their layoff while waiting for Nanaimo to dispose of New Westminster in the semifinals. Rocks' timing was off in the early stages.

Both goals—Nanaimo's Alf Shuker and George Johnston of Victoria—made 25 stops.

Third-game of the series will be played here Wednesday.

Vampires Hope This Their Year

Can this be Mayo Vampires' year? Last-place finishers in the 1956 Victoria Intermediate Football League, Vampires tackle defending-champion Oak Bay Drakes, Friday, in the first league game of the season.

Vampires are hopeful that it will also be their first step on the road to a league championship in 1957. If it is, it will be a change.

Last year Drakes captured the playoff crown from Navy and then lost the Western Canada final, 22-21, to Fort William Redskins. For the second year in a row, Vampires ended up last.

But this year, says coach Ray Mitchell, things might be different. For one thing, he says, his team appears better-balanced.

Drakes are missing a few of last year's players but, with one vital exception, they seem to have found adequate replacements. The one question in everyone's mind at present, though, is who will replace quarterback Tom Sanegret?

Mitchell released his Vamp lineup Wednesday and startled observers with the information that Pete Ash, a former fullback, will start at quarterback. Wayne Henderson is also slated for quarterback action.

If Mitchell is satisfied with his team, however, Nelson is not.

"The club we put out on the field for first couple of games won't be a true representation of the Navy team. We've got too many players either out with injuries or on sea duty. But when everyone gets back we should be all right."

Nelson has named Bud Brown and Chuck Nelson, when he returns, to the quarterback position.

For those who don't take the coach's word for anything, however, this week-end should give a fair indication of the relative strengths of the clubs.

Mitchell, after putting his club against Drakes, Friday, will send his team out against Navy Monday.

Both games are set for Royal Athletic Park, at 8 p.m.

Lions Select Best Twelve
VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union have included two quarterbacks—Maurice Duncan and Topsy Vann—in their list of 12 starting imports, announced late Wednesday.

The other 10 are ends Dan Edwards and Jerry Jones, tackles Chuck Frank and Dick Foster, guard Ed Sharkey, fullbacks Don Vico and By Bailey, halfbacks Primo Villanueva and Paul Cameron, and defensive back Rick Kaser.

Lions will keep guard Bob Hantla, halfback Tony Teresa and tackle Walt Mazur as reserve imports.

MOUNTIES CLOSE GAP

Bilko's Bat Booms But Angels Swoon

By The Associated Press

As certain as death and taxes, Steve Bilko keeps hitting home runs and his Los Angeles team keeps losing Pacific Coast League ball games.

Bilko hit his 51st homer Wednesday night but the Angels, long buried in sixth place, lost a 5-4 decision to Vancouver, enabling the Mounties to pick up a half game on the idle first-place San Francisco Seals.

Hollywood gained another decision in its battle with San Diego for third place, downing the Padres 6-5 in 10 innings, and Seattle edged Portland 6-5, Sacramento also was idle.

A wild pitch by Los Angeles reliever Bill George with the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the ninth inning allowed Vancouver's Jim Marshall to score the winning run. Bilko's homer drove in three runs. Winner Don Ferrarese chalked up his sixth straight pitching victory, making him 9-5 for the year.

SWEEP FOR STARS
Hollywood, now three games ahead of fourth-place San Diego, gained a sweep of the three-game series by its victory. At the end of eight innings the Stars' Bill Hall ended it quickly when he opened the bottom of the 10th with a triple. Then Joe Duhem, running for Hall, scored on Tony Bartirome's sacrifice fly.

Hal Bevan's two-run homer in the seventh inning gave Seattle its winning margin. Baseballs were flying all over Seattle's Sick Stadium as Portland collected 12 hits off three Rainier pitchers and Seattle banged out 11 off four Beaver hurlers.

Labor Day Road Event Attracts 20
Some 20 entries have been received from Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle for the annual Labor Day ten-mile road race, which starts and finishes at Beacon Hill Park on Labor Day.

Leading the expected entry list are Jim Moore, winner of the Sooke 20-mile marathon, Harry Stephens of Victoria, a veteran distance runner, and Dennis Parsons, a veteran marathoner who won a 40-mile race in England.

Parsons was considered one of the favorites in the Sooke marathon, but was forced out when blisters were raised by his new track shoes.

Race will commence at 11 a.m. The route follows Douglas Street from the Park, down Michigan to Dalhousie, along the waterfront to Robertson, down Robertson to Richmond, along Richmond to Despard, down St. Charles to Fort, along Fort to Cook and back to the park.

New Tax Charges Against Becks

OTHERS
Indicted with Beck and his son were Norman Gessert, general organizer for the union; Fred Verschuere, Sr., the union's auditor; Nathan Shefferman, a Chicago labor relations consultant; and Shefferman's son, Shelton. The men are scheduled for arraignment before Federal District Judge John C. Bowen.

Beck, in Los Angeles for a meeting of the Teamsters' executive board, said he was "not surprised at the indictment, but I certainly am not guilty."

"I never made out my own income tax. I hired public accountants to do it. If mistakes were made, they made them," he said.

PRIEST CALLED TO OUST GHOST

WILBARSTON, Eng. (UP) — Housewife Mabel Cullen called in a Roman Catholic priest today to exorcise a ghost who has settled himself in the best bedroom of her 17th century home.

Mrs. Cullen complained that the ghost, nicknamed George, came with the house when she bought it three weeks ago.

THE PAINTERS QUIT FAST

Bee Battle Buzzes in Attic

SOUTH NYACK, N.Y. (UP) — John Walters has bees in his bonnet, figuratively speaking, and would like to get rid of them.

The bees, thousands upon thousands of them, live in the walls of the attic of Walters' three-storey home. Been there for 10 years. They haven't bothered Walters, a bank employee, and he hasn't bothered them. Up to now, that is.

Walters decided to have his 11-room house painted. The painters did all right until they came up against the bees. Then they called it quits. Walters turned to a friend, George Leitner, whose hobby is beekeeping. Despite stings of unwelcome, they tore down parts of the walls and ceiling, removed 110 pounds of honey, and set up two big hives in the attic.

They tried to lure the bees into the hives. Instead, they lured another swarm of bees into the attic. A bee war followed, with the insiders winning out.

At last report, the survivors were swarming around the hives. If a queen bee goes in, the rest will follow and Walters will have the house to himself, his wife and four daughters.

Big Home Project Studied at Duncan

DUNCAN—Developments that could lead to the city expanding its boundaries and its influence in the surrounding area are making progress here.

Lions May Back Senior Citizens Housing Project

Victoria Lions Club may become a sponsor of a $75,000 apartment building for pensioners on Styles Street, Victoria West.

Club executive met with representatives of the Senior Citizens Housing Society this week to discuss plans. The proposal will be put before a general meeting of the club Sept. 13.

Formerly slated for single and married persons, the apartment may be redesigned for single persons only, society president Mrs. May Campbell said.

"Accommodation for single people seems to be the greatest need," she said.

A board meeting Sept. 9 will consider the advantages of expanding the present set-up of 23 units to 26.

Trial Ordered On Rape Count

QUALICUM BEACH—James Paul Lewis, 32, Dashwood railway worker, was committed for trial Wednesday on a charge of rape.

Preliminary hearing was held here before Magistrate Thomas Hadfield, and trial will be at the fall assizes in Nanaimo.

Decision Sought On Swimming Pool

NANAIMO — Recreation commission here decided this week to ask city council if it plans to revive a $225,000 by-law for construction of a swimming pool.

The commission would like to see the by-law placed at the next civic election.

It was to have gone to the voters last December, but was withdrawn by council because of the unfavorable conditions in the bond market at that time.

NUCLEUS

Commissioners agreed the city needs a permanent recreation centre and it was decided at the time the original by-law was considered to build the pool as the nucleus for a civic centre.

Commissioner Miss Elsie Hall, a former city alderman, suggested the council should change the mill rate structure to assign money for recreation purposes.

GUESS WEIGHT —WIN CALF

PORT ALBERNI—A contest to guess the weight of a calf will be staged during the annual fall fair here by the local 4-H council to raise funds for all 4-H clubs in the district.

First prize in the contest will be the calf.

Firemen Contests All Set For Labor Day at Duncan

There will be contests and a display of fire fighting methods, and presentation of awards at a banquet in Duncan Fire Hall in the evening.

M & B Opens More Lands To Hunters

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—A new access policy announced Wednesday by MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. will open over 400,000 acres of company-owned property to hunters and others wishing to travel logging roads.

Records of entry and exit times will be made by a company security officer at each of the gates to be open during prescribed hours on weekends and holidays.

Employees and members of Alberni District Fish and Game Association may obtain entry permits, and in some cases entry will be permitted to anyone accompanied by an employee of the company, the announcement said.

Crown-Zellerbach Outlines Rules For V.I. Hunters

General policy on hunting in Island logging areas owned by Crown-Zellerbach Canada Ltd., was outlined today for hunters who plan to bring out their guns when the season opens Saturday.

The Comox logging division of Crown-Zellerbach will open its logging areas to hunters on weekends when fire hazards are not considered dangerous, an official said.

Entrance gates will be staffed by Comox Logging personnel and access will be given to the general public.

Signs will be posted on main approach roads to Ladysmith, Nanaimo lakes and T'solum areas advising hunters whether the gates will be open or closed on weekends throughout the season.

This information also will be given on CHUB's outdoor program Friday at 5:30 p.m., and on CKWX sportscasts Friday at 6:10 p.m. and 11:05 p.m.

Hunting permits may be obtained at entrances to the logging areas or at the Comox logging office in Ladysmith.

WATER SYSTEM START TO BE MARKED TUESDAY

NANAIMO (CP)—Completion of the Greater Nanaimo Water District's $2,500,000 water supply system will be marked by a brief ceremony on Tuesday when water board chairman John Barsby will open the valve of the 12-inch supply line from the South Fork dam to No. 1 reservoir.

The water system now supplies 24,000 people and is large enough to provide an ample water supply for twice as many, and a limited supply for three times the present number of users.

45 Power Boats Ready For Labor Day Regatta

NANAIMO — More than 45 power boats have entered the regatta to be held at Westwood Lake on Labor Day, according to Cec Annis, race chairman.

Program will start at 11:30 a.m. Joint sponsors of the meet will be Nanaimo Kinsmen and Nanaimo Outboard Club.

They were praised at a meeting of the city council this week when Ald. P. J. Piper said the regatta was a "move in the right direction."

ROAD REPAIRS

He also reported the provincial government had authorized the city to proceed with repairs on the road leading to the lake. The province will pay for the work, Ald. Piper said.

One of the Hub City's leading contenders will not be present for the regatta. Alex Stevenson, outboard club racing chairman, left here Monday with his mechanic, Stanley Vollmers to compete in the Canadian national outboard championships Labor Day in London, Ont.

A 22-year-old apprentice line-man, he has been racing in the B utility runabout class for three years.

DEEDED TO CITY

Westwood Lake property of 286 acres was deeded to the city of Nanaimo last January by the B.C. Power Commission for $1.

Situated at the foot of Mount Benson, the lake is a popular fishing and picnicking spot. Grounds were cleared to a great extent in February through the volunteer efforts of unemployed loggers.

It was named many years ago for the family of Recreation and Conservation Minister Earle Westwood of Nanaimo, Cornwall.

Judge 'Spares' Pair By Giving Life Term

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UP)—Two men accused of the brutal "kangaroo court" execution of a fellow inmate in the San Mateo county jail last month were sentenced to life in prison Wednesday by a judge who said the gas chamber would be "too easy" for them.

The defendants, Dan Howard, 18, of Los Angeles, and Joseph Veitenheimer, 19, were accused of strangling Robert Young, 38, a partially-deaf vagrant, after a mock trial in which they had sentenced him to death for refusing to talk to them.

Judge A. R. Cotton said he believed a death penalty would be "too easy" in view of the nature of the shocking crime. "I'll give you life imprisonment," he said, "so you'll have plenty of time to repent."

TV TO CARRY QUEEN'S VISIT

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will provide "live" radio and television coverage of the Queen's visit here, Oct. 12 to 16.

All CBC television stations on the microwave network will receive "live" coverage, with non-connected stations receiving recordings.

The term "Union Jack" for the British flag was used by Queen Anne in a special order in 1707.

PEARKES SAYS:

Warning Systems To Be Modified

North America's radar warning systems "can and will be modified" to meet any new threat, Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, VC, said today. Pearkes, VC, said Wednesday, Canada's Arctic fringe and put into operation only a month ago, "is not made obsolete by the Russian announcement that it has tested a long-range missile," he said.

"We're going to keep our defences up-to-date to meet this and any new threat. As weapons are developed, defences will be developed."

Gen. Pearkes' said modifications will be made to the equipment on the DEW, Mid-Canada and Pine Tree radar lines. He added that the continent had other warning systems as well.

"We have no detailed knowledge of the Russian claim yet and military opinion is that they have not developed an intercontinental missile but one of lesser range," he said.

"So I'm not going to say that I'm frightened that our warning systems have become obsolete."

Fighter Control Operators Graduate Tonight

Three months of intensive training as fighter control operators will culminate with graduation tonight at RCAF Urban Centre of 95 young men and women of Reserve Tradesmen's Training Plan.

Members of the plan, operated under 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron RCAF, are senior high school and first year college students who earned full air force pay during training.

They have the option of joining the regular force or taking their release.

Engraved wrist watches and fountain pens will be presented to course leaders by Group E. A. Alexander, officer commanding 19 Wing headquarters, Vancouver.

Mayor Percy Scurrell will present swag sticks to the two smartest airmen participating in the summer's sunset ceremonies at the Legislature, which conclude earlier tonight.

U.S.-Bound Plane Gets Bomb Scare

PORTLAND (AP)—High over Baker, Ore., Tuesday night a United Air Lines plane received a message: "Turn back to Portland. There may be a bomb aboard."

The craft, with 72 passengers and four crew members, was bound from Vancouver, B.C., to Denver. It immediately turned back to Portland where it had stopped earlier. No bomb was found.

125 More Police Cars In Holiday Crackdown

Strong Warning Coupled With Safe-Driving Plea

Police and government authorities today appealed to the public to drive safely over the Labor Day weekend. They backed their appeal with a warning:

RCMP traffic patrolmen will be out in record number to enforce the law.

"I regret that an appeal for safe driving should be accompanied by an implied promise of prosecution," said Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

"But experience has shown that good driving habits and the imminence of prosecution are related."

Assistant-Commissioner C. W. Harvison, head of the RCMP in the province, said special measures are being taken by the force in an effort to cut down the toll of death and injury on the highways.

"People may think we are out to get more convictions," he said. "That is not so. I would be happy to see no convictions provided there were no accidents."

Every available RCMP constable and patrol car which can be spared temporarily from non-essential duties will be added to normal highway patrols.

For the purposes of the campaign, the weekend begins Friday evening and runs through to Tuesday morning.

A total of 125 additional patrol cars, including ghost cars and radar-equipped vehicles, and 258 additional personnel will take part in the drive.

Campaign Described As An Experiment

Supt. J. R. W. Bordeleau, officer in charge of criminal investigation for B.C., said the campaign is an experiment.

It is possible to continue at length because of other police commitments.

RCMP members were asked to volunteer for the extra duty and lined up wholeheartedly, he said.

"We were amazed at the high number of men who volunteered when the plan was drawn up. They will be giving up their own free time during the holiday weekend to make the roads safer for everyone."

"It shows the tremendous interest in this type of preventive campaign."

"The plan is to saturate all main highways in the district with every available car and all manpower so it will be impossible to drive any distance without encountering an RCMP patrol."

Statistics which demonstrate the need for safety consciousness on the part of every motorist were provided today by George Lindsay, provincial superintendent of motor-vehicles. This is the record of last year's Labor Day holiday period.

Ten persons killed; 173 injured. There were a total of 844 accidents and property damage amounted to $177,425.

On the basis of a decline in recent months in the number of traffic fatalities, Mr. Lindsay looks for an improvement this weekend.

He estimates that five persons will lose their lives on the highway over the four-day period.

"The chance is primarily yours," Mr. Lindsay told B.C. motorists.

"Careful driving and strict observance of safety rules can mean the difference between a happy and exciting weekend and a horrible nightmare of death and destruction."

The superintendent issued a special warning to parents: "Nine children between the ages of one and five have lost their lives while walking or playing on our highways this year."

You Children—Your Duty to Protect

"In many instances this death record could have been avoided by parental care and guidance. They are your children, it is your duty to protect them."

Two of those nine fatalities have been in the Greater Victoria area.

Mr. Lindsay is hopeful there will be a decline of 50 fatalities this year from 1956.

During the month of July, 20 persons were killed, compared with 37 in the same month last year. Injuries were also down slightly, although the number of accidents continues to increase.

So far this year there have been 146 traffic fatalities, as against 179 at the same date in 1956.

The superintendent credits the program of drivers' record reviews and increased suspensions launched in 1953 for the improvement.

"I said then it would take about five years to bear results," Mr. Lindsay said. "We're seeing the first signs now."

Dairies Meet To Consider Ultimatum

Victoria's four major dairies were to consider this afternoon a strike ultimatum made by 165 employees.

The ultimatum—a strike if an eight-month dispute is not settled by next Wednesday—was made Wednesday night after a meeting of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union.

The seven-day deadline was coupled with 14 proposed changes the union wants made to a still-undisclosed offer made by the dairies last week.

A dairy official said the ultimatum had not been delivered officially to the companies this morning. But the employers would "get together" this afternoon for a discussion.

"I don't know what the union is proposing now," he said. "Our offer was pretty close to the conciliation board report. There probably should be some news tomorrow."

A union official said the get-together decision was made because the "men are fed up to the teeth" with the prolonged negotiations that began in January.

The union wants implementation of the conciliation report calling for wage increases of $30 and $32.50 a month and continuation of six-day weekly delivery.

The dairies previously rejected the delivery schedule and countered with five-day weekly delivery, skipping Wednesday and Sunday, to offset the wage increases.

Tot Hit By Car
A 13-month-old girl received a severe head gash when in collision with a car driven by her teen-aged brother near Little Saanich Mountain at about 10.30 a.m. today.

Victoria Ann Cook, 5090 West Saanich, was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital. Her condition is described as good.

Police said relatives visiting the Cooks at their home opposite Dominion Astrophysical Observatory gates parked their car in the driveway and the girl's brother Barry was turning it around ready to leave when the accident happened.

MEREDITH SAVALE

Oak Bay Girl Wins Queen's Scholarship

An $1,800 scholarship to Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., has been awarded to Meredith Savale, 18, 3085 Southdowne.

A graduate of St. Margaret's School, Miss Savale has completed one year at Victoria College and will enter Queen's University next month. She plans to major in English.

Similar scholarships to the university are awarded in each province for character and all-round scholastic excellence.

Graduate of Oak Bay High School, Tony Whittingham, 18, of 2320 Woodhouse, has received a $200 university entrance scholarship from the Canadian Legion, B.C. Command.

Tony scored 91.1 per cent average in provincial examinations last June and will enter Victoria College in September. His major will be medicine or civil engineering.

Floodlighting At Beacon Hill Urged by City

Centennial Group Hears Plan Tonight

City council finance committee will recommend a new project to the district centennial committee tonight — floodlighting and night decoration of Beacon Hill Park.

The proposal could reopen the centennial grants controversy which was thought to be finally settled a month ago.

The park lighting suggestion was expected to be especially attractive to committee members due to a suggestion by Mayor Percy Scurrell that Victoria might pay half the cost, over and above its share of the centennial pot.

BUTCHART'S

Finance committee received a letter from city electrical engineer Kenneth Reid today suggesting Beacon Hill Park be lighted similar to "... what has been done in Butchart's Gardens."

He pictured a "... fairland of illuminated flowers and shrubs, fountains and pools."

All wiring would be underground and the park would be made as attractive by day as it is by night.

He said parks superintendent W. H. Warren enthusiastically supports the scheme.

Aldermen A. I. Curtis and Arthur Dowell also supported the project. Mayor Scurrell said if the centennial committee would allocate part of its funds the city might match a $10,000 or $15,000 contribution.

City manager C. C. Wyatt said it is not too late to make the suggestion as the intermunicipal centennial committee has not yet applied for provincial centennial grants.

Early in July, the centennial committee of Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt delegates approved a plan to disburse centennial grant funds, $70,908 to the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, $32,000 to Beaver-Elk Lake development, $10,000 to Esquimalt's Gorge Park and $8,500 to an undisclosed project in Oak Bay.

First prize is $25 along with suitable medals.

WHY KNIT? "WHY NOT?" says Mrs. W. Adams of Sooke, who was runner-up in the PNE knitting bee in Vancouver. It's lots of fun and useful too. Mrs. Adams will compete again Labor Day for the grand prize in the contest.

45 Drivers Excused On Tickets

Victoria police today excused 45 drivers from payment of overparking tickets handed out Wednesday in a new restricted parking area.

Mayor Percy Scurrell issued a warning: "Victorians are going to have to become used to more severe parking restrictions."

More areas now used by all-day parkers in the downtown fringe area will be subjected to the two-hour parking limit, he said.

Another 57 blocks of fringe area streets were closed to all-day parkers Wednesday. By day's end, 45 tickets had been handed out.

TOO SOON

It was later learned some of them were given to cars parked where restriction signs had not yet been erected, so police have cancelled all the tickets.

But those issued today will be effective.

Irate drivers had converged on the police station to complain.

St. Joseph's Hospital also filed a complaint, stating some warning should have been given before the new parking regulations were made effective.

(Council's action was outlined in the press a month ago, but the by-law just became effective.)

Mayor Scurrell said: "We don't want to cause any more inconvenience than is absolutely necessary but council felt it was necessary to put the restrictions on. Up to now we have been accustomed to parking our cars in front of where we want to do business."

"But because of the increase in traffic it is going to be necessary for us to get accustomed to walking a few blocks. This is the condition in almost every other city at present and we have just got to realize it."

Mrs. W. F. Lloyd Dies Suddenly
Mrs. W. F. Lloyd, 2215 Bowker Avenue, died suddenly in Royal Jubilee Hospital this morning following a stroke.

Mrs. Lloyd was proprietress with her husband of the Oasis Confectionery on Fort Street. Born in Bradford, England, in 1906, she had lived on Vancouver Island for 46 years. She returned to Victoria five years ago after seven years in Chehalis, V.I.

Surviving are the widow, W. F. Lloyd; a daughter, Mrs. Jeffrey Phillips; two sons, Roland and Wayne, and two brothers, A. L. Fox in Victoria, and E. F. Fox in Vancouver.

Funeral will be from McCall Bros. Saturday at noon with interment in Royal Oak Cemetery.

IT'S EGG-CITING

Little Daisy's Razzle-Dazzle Gets Results

Pink-eyed Daisy, ruling with an iron claw and driving her charges down the stretch, is leading the Saanichon Fair egg-laying contest.

Daisy is captain of a five-hen team, owned by Don Campbell, which has laid 16 eggs in four days—pretty good for a team which didn't look too good on paper.

"I have never seen as game a hen as Daisy," said W. T. Burrows, referee and egg collector. "She is continually urging her team on with encouraging clucks and cackles."

Daisy, in short, is a razzle-dazzle type of captain who gets results.

In second place is a team captained by Madame Pompadour with a score of 15 eggs. She is owned by Morris Scobie.

The contest ends Labor Day.

First prize is $25 along with suitable medals.

Appointment of 17 persons to act as special registrars of voters for the Victoria municipal elections was approved today by the provincial cabinet.

They are appointed special commissioners for taking affidavits within the province under provisions of the B.C. Evidence Act.

Action was taken by city council to encourage all eligible voters to register.

Under the new Municipal Act approved at the spring legislative session, residents who do not own property must register before they can vote.

This was made necessary by abolition of the road and poll taxes.

SEPT. 30 DEADLINE
Deadline for registrations is Sept. 30.

These are the special registrars and places of registration: Mrs. Nellie Inglis, 402 Moss; Mrs. Isabella Westendale, 1198 Yates; Stan Turner, 408 Superior; William Palmer, 1109 Kings; Dave Lee, 1823 Douglas; Mrs. R. Kessler, 1024 Caledonia; Gus Martin, 758 Humboldt; Mrs. Georgina E. Thacker, 247 Cook; Mrs. Ruby Bell, 948 Hillside; Ken Newbery, 1600 Bay; Mrs. Ethel Florence Smith, 493 Esquimalt; James J. ## NEW MINISTER INSPECTS WORK POINT

New Pandora Location Studied for Fire Hall

Plans were shaping at City Hall today for consolidation of Victoria's three public works yards and possible establishment of a new fire hall site on Pandora at Chambers.

Strangely, a fire is responsible for the changed circumstances which may settle the relocation problems facing the city.

Fire and explosion recently destroyed the Ramsay and Adams Foundry at 435 Garbally Road.

The foundry site adjoins the city's main public works yards and maintenance shops. For some years, city council has eyed the land. If it could have been obtained, materials stored on Chambers Street and in the water department yard at Pandora could be transferred to the central, single location.

Valuable Pandora holdings and less valuable Chambers Street lands could then be sold or put to other purpose.

Until the fire, the foundry firm had refused all offers.

$30,000 OFFER
Today, council finance committee, approved an offer by the firm to sell for $30,000.

If council approves the deal, the city stands to save $5,000 a year at least through consolidating its works activities at Garbally Road.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said in his opinion, the Pandora yards would provide a site for the proposed new fire hall.

He said: "It would have to be carefully considered, but the fire chief has always favored erecting the new hall on the Pandora Green. The water department yard is so close, it wouldn't make any difference."

OPPOSITION
Earlier this year council approved the site of the old fire hall for erection of a new one. Since then, the proposition has been opposed by some aldermen. It was indicated council might change its mind.

Ald. Arthur Dowell's finance committee, which includes the mayor and Ald. A. I. Curtis, said payment of the $30,000 for the Ramsay property would not affect this year's budget. It would come directly from funds received by the city through sale to the federal government some years ago of Gordon Head properties.

Jaywalkers, beware.
Deputy police chief Harry Mercer warned today police will clamp down on pedestrians who insist on crossing downtown streets between crosswalks.

"It's for their own safety. There is entirely too much jaywalking in Victoria," he said.

By-law provides a penalty for violations in the business district.

Victoria Elks and Eagles bands will compete for awards in the Playfair parade at Port Angeles Saturday.

Bandmaster Bill Fry will lead a 12-member Elks Clown Band and the Fraternal Order of Eagles Band with 24 performers will be headed by Charles Smith.

Five majorettes and 22 Eagleette junior girls also will march with the Eagles band.

Fire believed started in, oil cans at the rear of a Saanich Road house caused $450 estimated damage to exterior wall, windows and roof and interior smoke damage at 10.20 a.m. Wednesday.

Saanich fire department attended at the home of H. J. MacDonald, 3741 Saanich, and extinguished the blaze before it scorched more than a small area.

Point Ellice Bridge reconstruction is ahead of schedule. Mayor Percy Scurrell reported today. He said work on the approaches is a week in advance of schedule and steel work is even more advanced. Completion of the bridge was intended for early November.

City council will be asked by finance committee to lift sales restrictions on city lots in vicinity of the Legislative Buildings. A reserve had been placed on the land when it appeared the government might expand east or west. The committee felt "sufficient time has elapsed" and it was pointed out there are only two city lots remaining in the area anyway.

President of Toastmasters International in 1945, Robert Switzer of San Diego, Calif., addressed a meeting of 45 Camosun Toastmasters and Victoria Arbutus Toastmasters Wednesday night.

The clubs also heard a report on the international conference in Dallas, Texas, from Jack Gillis, district governor and member of Camosun club.

There will be no letter carrier or rural mail deliveries on Labor Day, Victoria postmaster R. F. Reid announced today.

Wicket service at the post office will be maintained Monday from 10 a.m. to noon and the public lobby will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Collections will be made from street letter boxes according to the Sunday schedule.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Local 1163, United Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers of America, will meet at 8 p.m., September 9, in the Labor Hall, 613 Pandora. Also meeting at the hall, September 13, at 8 p.m., will be members of Local 2415 (pile-drivers) United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

Tentative date for the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce has been set for September 27, in the Empress Hotel.

This date is subject to revision, depending on availability of speakers and other factors. Close to 250 chamber members are expected to attend.

An addition to the Oak Bay fire hall which is to become the new headquarters for municipal police is expected to be ready in mid-September.

The 12-man force at present occupies quarters in the municipal hall.

Cost of new addition will be about $45,000.

Robert Watson, in city police court today, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering with intent to steal at the shop of Thomas Atkinson, 617 Vancouver, at 10 p.m. Wednesday.

Cons. Charles Hitchen said two windows were smashed and the accused was found trying to hide in the office.

Watson said he was drunk and could remember nothing of the incident.

He was remanded to Friday for sentence.

Progress of the telephone system will be outlined by Eric Mallet of the B.C. Telephone Co. at a meeting of Victoria Lions in the Empress Hotel Friday at noon.

ASK The TIMES
Q—Why is the swan called the "royal bird"? L.J.

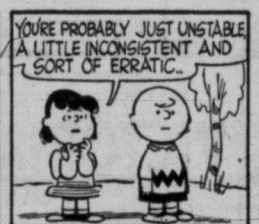

A—Because up to the time of Queen Elizabeth I no subject could possess a swan without permission of the crown. Why this was stipulated is not clear in available reference works.

Q—If I travelled 150 miles an hour, how long would it take to reach the sun? H.E.

A—The distance from sun to earth varies during the year, but averages about 93,000,000 miles. If a newborn child was placed on a plane that could fly upwards at 150 mph, the child would be 71 years of age on arrival. However, no one is immediately contemplating this.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor, Questions and Answers will be published daily.

Transition cottons, those dresses that get a girl from summer into fall in cool comfort, are both washable and wrinkle-resistant. Slim sheath with curved hipline (left) is a mixture of silk and cotton with a worsted finish. The color is a soft brown. Over the sheath goes fitted jacket with curved shoulder line and interesting standaway collar. Tiny checks in jewel color appear (centre) in dress with high surplice top and side-buttoned skirt that has easy pleats. Blouson sheath (right) in Bonnie Prince Charlie plaid has neatly tailored bow belt and high jewelry neckline. All of these fashions are in Thomas cottons. All are handy to have in a travel-wardrobe for varying climates.

New Dark Cottons Smart for Early Autumn

NEW YORK (NEA)—Things have reached a point this fall where a girl can happily wear her transition cottons into October if she likes.

The reason? Styling, of course. Knowing that she wants to get into something dark during the dog days, designers have given her darkened cottons that will look like autumn while keeping her cool.

But more than that, they've used sleeve lengths, necklines and jacket treatments that all suggest fall. A good many of these dark cottons are handy not only for getting from summer into autumn but for travel involving several climate changes.

Transition cottons follow current fashion trends, of course.

This means that we see the softened sheath, the neat little jacket dress with soft, widened collar and the wide skirt with easy pleats. They're meant to be worn with a little velvet cap, suede or calf shoes and frosty white gloves.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Caterpillar Wiggles As He's Pulled Along

By PENNY SAVER

I found some of the cutest pull-toys today. They're made of plastic with inset sections of metal spring, so that they wiggle and quiver engagingly as they are pulled along.

My favorite was a long yellow and green caterpillar with antenna set on springs so that they quiver, too. Price is $2.49, and a turtle is the same price.

Smaller toys are a frog and a rabbit, also with inset springs. They are $1.29 each.

ROSE IN BLOOM

To add a lovely touch of color to an autumn outfit, there are large lush-looking silk roses with matching chiffon scarves. They come in gold, blue, rose, turquoise, grey, green, beige, and orange, shading from light to dark tones.

Price for the two items is $3.

For those of you who don't like the bulk of a blouse under a suit but like the look of one filling in the suit neckline, I've found some very pretty vesties that simply tie around the waist.

They are of sheer nylon tricot that drapes softly to form a crossover V neckline. Colors are champagne, coral, turquoise, mauve, pale blue and yellow. The price tag reads $2.25. Pure silk broadcloth is used to fashion neatly tailored blouses with bow-tied collars, hemstitched fronts and short sleeves.

In pale blue, pink, or black checks, they're $5.95.

ALLOWANCE AID

Most parents nowadays like to give their children practice in handling their own money, usually by giving them a regular weekly allowance.

If you'd like help in deciding how much your child should have, what items he should be expected to pay for, and how to handle special allowance problems, there is a good Money Management booklet on "Children's Spending."

To get it, you send ten cents to cover mailing costs. I'll be pleased to give you the address, and the names of the stores where I found today's other items, if you call me at 2-3131.

"No, those are her slippers—mine are a couple sizes smaller."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

General Health Reflected In Appearance of Hair

Lucky is the woman who has a luxuriant head of hair. This boosts beauty tremendously. This characteristic often seems to run in families although this is not always the case. One child may have moderate to thin hair while another has heavy hair. Even then these divergent tendencies probably came from one parent or grandparent.

Many women worry about thin hair and write to know what to do about it. First look to your general health! Your hair is a living, growing part of your body and as such no doubt, is affected by the food you eat, the exercise you take and the thoughts you think. We all know that after times of strain and worry or following an illness the hair often falls out or becomes dull and lifeless. Be especially careful about your diet. Be sure that it gives you a high intake in vitamin B complex. It might even be wise to reinforce your menus with vitamin-B complex capsules. Ask your physician about this. Also try to form good health habits. Avoid strain and relax more.

Local stimulation is also helpful. Massage your scalp and brush your hair daily — using the proper technique. There are all kinds of motions which are called "brushing" or "massaging."

Even in good beauty salons you seldom find that they brush hair correctly. Usually the brush is just whipped across the top of the head a few times. This provides no stimulation for the scalp, and therein lies the value of brushing. This is the way it should be done. Turn the bristles of the brush toward the scalp. As you sweep the brush toward the ends of the hair turn the bristles toward the ceiling. This will pull the hair gently. When you massage the scalp spread the fingers over the head and rotate the hands, keeping the fingers in the same spot. Change the position of the hands until the entire scalp has been covered.

Brushing and massaging the scalp take little time but will bring you much improvement if you indulge in them daily.

Of course a permanent helps a lot if you have thin hair just as liquid sprays are a great aid if your hair is very fine. Sprays give it body and help hold it in place.

Delicate New Colors To Mark Royal Visit

Fiesta pink, Galway grey and wild orchid are the three new colors sponsored by Princess Margaret to commemorate Queen Elizabeth's State visit to Canada and the U.S. this fall. They are the perfect expression of the royal preference for pastel colors in clothes and jewelry.

Just announced by the British Color Council, the three colors will provide an entrancing background for the delicate flower jewelry that the Queen and her sister often wear during the daytime.

Fiesta pink, described as "a brilliant flower-like" color, will appear on color ranges for wool and worsted, millinery, cotton and knitwear for spring and summer next year. Galway grey—a bluish grey—will look well in wool and alpaca. Wild orchid—one of the new lilac

OFTEN IN PINK

The royal sisters both frequently wear pink. The Queen often picks up the delicate tones of a coat or a suit—sometimes even of an accessory—with the flower brooch in which is set the fabulous pink diamond given her by Dr. Williams of Pennsylvania.

Women attracted by the new colors will, however, find many less expensive gems to complement them. Pink tourmalines and pale amethysts are two examples. Blue sapphire would provide a magnificent contrast with the pinks as well as offering an attractive combination with soft tones of Galway grey. For informal wear pearls will be perfect with all three new pastel shades. For evening, the unusually subtle color of wild orchid will match beautifully with diamonds—for those fortunate enough to possess them.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Position of junior bridesmaids:

My 14-year-old twin sisters will be junior bridesmaids at my wedding in October. As time draws near, I get more and more confused as to where to place them in the processional and recessional, as they will have no male partners. If they march down the aisle first in the processional and move to the extreme left at the altar, they would be the last out and it may look awkward. Would it be all right for them to stop near the centre, leaving space for the maid of honor, then have the other bridesmaids stand at their left? If so, they could follow the maid of honor and best man in the recessional.

Louise Davis answers: Had you thought of having two more ushers to balance the number of girls in the bridal party? They can be the same age as your sisters, even older. If you expect many people at the church, the more ushers the better. But if you decide not to add the ushers, don't be concerned, for you can work out your problem at the rehearsal. For the processional, you would have the twins precede the bridesmaids. If, at the altar, they are placed at the extreme left, it wouldn't be at all awkward if they bring up the rear in the recessional. You couldn't very well hide the fact that there would be more girls than men. An alternative equally as good would be to have the twins follow you and the bridegroom. They could still do it from their places at the extreme left. I don't recommend placing them near the centre, for the older attendants have a priority in relation to the bride.

SHE KNOWS WHERE SHE'S GOING

High Marks, Fun As Well for Barbara

By ANNE MAYHEW

The best place to picnic on a sunny summer noon is, beyond a doubt, among the buttercups between the "TO" and the "VICTORIA" in the "WELCOME TO VICTORIA" flower bed on Belleville Street.

It's also a good spot for an interview!

That's the place Barbara preferred, at any rate. And she should know, for she's working at the Parliament Buildings and spends her lunch hour in this flower bed nearly every day.

"Barb," the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Wallace, Richmond Avenue, is spending her holidays doing clerical work in the Department of Education.

Through that and half a dozen other things, she has changed her mind and plans to work for a Bachelor of Arts degree and then become a teacher.

"I had decided that I definitely wouldn't be a teacher when everybody said to me, 'Of course you will...'" Both her father and uncle teach.

"I wanted to be in the social service for the longest time.

Barbara Wallace... plans to be a teacher.

(A camp leader must have developed a sense of humor, a strong constitution and a knack for winning children's approval.)

At Victoria College, Barb says she majored in "Caff 100." In other words, that she loved those heated discussions in the cafeteria. "But if you're to be a teacher," she exclaimed herself, "everything you do is a help!"

"College year starts with a bang," she exclaimed, "... and you never come down!"

The clouds seem to agree with her, for though she was women's representative on the Council, assistant editor of "The Tower," and in countless other things, Barb came through with an 84.9% average. And a scholarship, besides.

As you can see, Barb hasn't been wasting her time among the buttercups. She's been plotting the route, and now she knows where she's going.

100-YEAR-OLD

Royal Disdain Failed To Foil Divorce Act

LONDON (Reuters)—Divorce was 100 years old in England Wednesday.

Parliament on Aug. 28, 1857, passed the Matrimonial Causes Act which gave the common man or woman a practical way to achieve divorce. Before that, a special act of Parliament was required, a process so involved and expensive that only 244 divorces were granted in England from 1715 to 1850.

CAMP PETAWAWA, Ont. (CP)—Col. Donald Forbes, 51, commandant of Camp Petawawa, died at noon Wednesday following a heart seizure Tuesday. EARLY-DAY FIREMEN HAD 144-HOUR WEEK

Motto: 'We Strive to Save'

By TONY DICKASON

The convention underway here of 115 fire chiefs from throughout the province brings to mind the storied history of the Victoria fire department, which dates back to the early 1860s.

It was then volunteers were organized into three companies, each company comprising 60 men.

Property owners and all interested in city welfare joined and each company had a motto: "Our Aim, the Public Good," "Willing Hearts and Hands," and "We Strive to Save."

Fire halls were built, and two hand engines with a hook and ladder truck and a supply of leather fire hose—still to be seen at the Cormorant Street hall—were put into service.

TOLLED AT DEATH

Each member paid a monthly fee. Alarm bells were introduced which sounded at fires and were also tolled at the death of a fireman.

Public entertainment was held to raise funds while a keen spirit of rivalry existed between companies in gaining credit for reaching fires promptly.

It is to the credit of these volunteers that no serious fires developed in Victoria.

On several occasions, especially in Chinatown, a number of fires menaced the business district, but losses were low.

The water supply used in fighting fires was stored in cisterns at principal street corners, the main supply coming from a "spring" and small lake at the city's east end, then known as "Spring Ridge."

RED SHIRTS

May Day festivals brought out the volunteers dressed in their red shirts, black trousers, white gloves and caps, and with apparatus decorated. After Confederation, Dominion Day was the annual holiday of the firemen. They held picnics and other entertainment which netted money to replace the old wooden fire halls by brick structures.

The three companies were called "Hook and Ladder," then housed on Bastion opposite the present Court House; the "Deluge" on Yates, and the "Tiger" on Johnson.

A ladder company of a dozen small boys was also organized and their duties were to carry lanterns when fire

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Nancy Youngberg, aged 11, of Seattle, Wash., for her question:

What Is a Geyser?

One theory explains that the eruption happens when some of the cooler water above the superheated water turns to steam. It escapes through the vent, or crater. This releases pressure on the deep, superheated water. Then it, too, turns to steam and rushes up to make a frothy plume in the air.

A more recent theory suggests that there may be several connecting underground chambers below a geyser. Ground water seeps through cracks and pores to fill them. Only one chamber is in a bed of hot rock and only this chamber heats its water to steamy boiling point. When this steam gets up enough steam, it rushes into a connecting chamber of cooler water. The inrush of steam pushes up and squirts this water into a white fountain above ground. When the show is over, the water starts to collect in the cavity or cavities below ground and the cycle starts all over again.

Viewed from above ground, a geyser is active only once in awhile. This is when a plume of steam and hot water shoots up into the air. Some geysers spout every few minutes, others wait hours between shows. Some spout at regular intervals, others spit only when they feel like it—or so it seems. But the show above ground is merely the last step of a complicated process which goes on below ground all the time. Geysers occur in regions where not so long ago the earth seethed with volcanic activity. Molten rock, which is lava, poured in thick blankets over the ground. The surface of this lava cooled in the air. But layers of hot rock were trapped below, sealed by the solid crust above. Such regions exist in Iceland, New Zealand and Yellowstone Park. And here we find geysers.

Water seeps down through cracks and pores in the solid surface. It collects in lakes and tunnels right down in the hot layers of rock below. And what happens when water pours on hot stone? It turns to steam. And steam pours forth as from a boiling kettle.

There are two theories as to why the geyser erupts only so often. Under normal pressure water boils at 212 degrees Fahrenheit. Under heavier pressure it will not boil and turn to steam until much hotter. And the ground water down there below the spouting geyser is certainly under pressure. It becomes superheated, which is hotter than boiling though unable to turn to steam.

Are there some questions Andy cannot answer? Yes, indeed there are plenty of questions your old Andy cannot answer. In fact, he is mostly a reporter. He finds out what he can about the subjects that interest you and reports his findings in his column.

Andy's job is tracking down the things you want to know. He spends hours reading books and encyclopedias, looking up word meanings in dictionaries. He consults with experts on various subjects to get the latest news. And once in a while he goes out to interview an especially fascinating animal.

Anyone who had the time and the curiosity could do all this. Anyone who tried to do it would soon find out that there are about a million things we don't know on every subject. So Andy just reports the known facts and tells you that the rest is still waiting to be discovered.

(Odeon): Rita Hayworth, returning from her wranglings with Columbia in what might be termed a come-back, teams up with Robert Mitchum and Jack Lemmon in "Fire Down Below," a film that provides a perfect example of what happens when suspense is held over-long—it bogs in ted-

ium. Basically the story is one of conflict between three failures in life — Miss Hayworth, a woman on the lam in the West Indies who buys her phony passports with favors; Mitchum, the co-owner of a small boat who recognizes her as a lost soulmate, and young Lemmon, the other owner of the boat who is bent on harvesting a bumper crop of wild oats.

UNTIL Rita arrives petty smugglers Mitchum and Lemmon get along like kids and peanut butter. But afterwards everything is at sixes and sevens between them. If they are not bawling they are making wolf's eyes at Rita, who, at first, has difficulty separating the men from the boys. In the end she picks a Lemmon and this irks Mitchum so much that he turns informer on his erstwhile buddy-buddy. Eventually Lemmon returns aboard a freighter, gun in hand, intent on proving to Rita that Mitchum's got holes in his head. Here fate takes a hand and the freighter is holed by another craft and Lemmon is jammed in the bow of the doomed craft. In conclusion: It is interesting to note that life is catching up to Miss Hayworth. Although she plays her role creditably she, at times, reminds one of some middle-aged mid-west housewife who has had a tough day with the kids.

Psychology to Boat Handling At Vic College Night Classes

Close to 30 credit and non-credit courses in everything from psychology to small boat handling will be offered in evening division studies at Victoria College starting at the end of Sept.

Special emphasis this year is on aspects of business management.

Registration for most courses must be made by Sept. 15 by mail and in person at the college by Sept. 24.

Whether or not all courses will be given depends on sufficient enrolment.

SMITH TO LECTURE

In the general courses, H. L. Smith, former principal of Victoria High School, lectures on English poetry from the close of the 18th century to the beginning of the modern period.

Royal Victoria Yacht Club members Richard V. James will instruct in small boat handling. This course proved extremely popular at the last session.

In the business grouping is a course on the basic factors in our economy, presented by Professor G. Reid Elliott of the college staff. It will include study of government attempts to prevent the "boom and bust" in national money handling.

An outline of the western world's history will be presented by a distinguished panel of seven instructors, under chairmanship of Alfred E. Carlsen, associate professor of economics and history, Royal Roads.

Many business and professional men find they are handicapped by inability to express themselves effectively in writing. For such people, the college offers a course with Professor Robert G. Lawrence as instructor.

A course of 10 lectures by outstanding provincial authorities will cover all facets of B.C. history, resources, people and the arts.

Voice production and control, basic to all teaching and public speaking, will be given by Selwyn Neale.

There is also a course in hospital ward management, given by Mary L. Richmond, Royal Jubilee director of nursing.

CREDIT

All aspects of retail credit will be thoroughly discussed in a course sponsored by the Credit Grantors' Association of Victoria, with instructors Geoffrey Ellis, manager of the Victoria Credit Bureau and G. A. Hebden, of Hebden Printing.

A course in 19 general and six special lectures on business management has been arranged for junior and senior executives, while a diploma course in sales management is also offered.

London Gallery Features Trio From Canada

LONDON (CP)—Three Canadian artists are exhibiting work in a new London gallery a stone's throw from the Lord's Cricket Ground.

The present show, Living Art, features work by 40 contemporaries, including oil paintings by Jean-Paul Riopelle of Montreal and Edmund Alley of Quebec City and sculpture by Peter Sager of Vancouver.

Riopelle's one exhibit, described as "lush" by the art critic of The Times, hangs in the best position at the gallery—facing the entrance. The painting is abstract in oils suggesting a landscape.

Granville says Riopelle's work has "similar importance to Picasso's of 30 years ago." The 33-year-old Montrealer, who now lives in Paris, applies his oils with a palette knife only.

RUSS QUOTE DIEFFENBAKER ON MISSILE

LONDON (UP)—Moscow radio today reported "world wide" interest in the announcement that the Soviets have developed an inter-continental ballistic missile.

London monitors reported that Moscow transmissions, beamed on Europe were concerned almost exclusively with foreign reaction to the Soviet announcement that a Russian ICBM had been successfully tested.

Most of the comment was from eastern European newspapers, praising the Soviet Union for developing the weapon. British newspaper comment and a statement by Canadian Prime Minister John D.iefenbaker were also quoted.

Mrs. Maurice Girard, elder sister Rose who lives in Niagara Falls, Ont., said she "saw Cecile three weeks ago when I went home to attend my brother's wedding."

"I chatted with Cecile about Philippe and their romance and I do know no date had been set. However, we are all expecting that it will be in the next month or two."

Foreign Capital Flow Into Canada At All-Time High

OTTAWA (CU)—The flow of foreign capital into Canada reached an all-time high in the first half of 1957 as overseas investors staged unprecedented demands for Canadian stocks.

In the sale of new and old stocks and bonds, total net imports of capital swelled to $533,000,000 from $306,000,000 in the first six months of 1956, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

About one-quarter of this total came from overseas sources, chiefly the United Kingdom.

Net sales of securities to the United Kingdom totaled $72,300,000 in the half-year—almost as great as the $86,800,000 for the full year of 1956. Of the $72,300,000 sales, $69,000,000 were in stocks.

In those six months, Canada had a net export of capital to the United States in trade of old securities. The export, amounting to $21,700,000, resulted mainly from repurchases of outstanding Canadian bonds.

Logs on Willows Beach being cleared away and buried near the new Esplanade sea wall to help prevent wall undermining by erosion, and to clean up the beach itself, it was reported today by municipal engineer A. S. G. Musgrave.

Henry Bertrand, Victoria, was fined $25 in city police court today for common assault on Adam Jimmy outside a Chinatown cafe last week.

Court was told Bertrand slapped the complainant across the face, knocking off his glasses.

Ex-B.C. 'Global Thief' Jailed With Daughter

ATLANTA (UP)—Mrs. Margaret Burton, described by the FBI as a high-living "international thief," was lodged in the county jail today with her daughter on a state charge of pilfering $100,000 from a suburban medical clinic where she worked for two years.

Mrs. Burton, a woman with 22 aliases, arrived in Atlanta Wednesday night from Tulsa, Okla., where she was captured by the FBI after she fled Georgia. The woman also faces a federal charge of transporting stolen goods over state lines.

The woman's mysterious flight began in a pink air-conditioned sedan and an entourage of cars, furniture and 50 pedigree cocker spaniels, including Rise and Shine, valued at about $5,000.

She was discovered working in a doctor's office in Tulsa by an alert secretary who had seen her picture in a newspaper.

Mrs. Burton was born a British subject in China. In her 31 years she has been classified as a fugitive in Honolulu, Los Angeles, Vancouver, B.C., San Antonio, Tex., and Norfolk, Va., according to the FBI.

CNAF Enkeli and other vessels of the Canadian Department of Fisheries have carried out extensive research into the ocean-going habits of Pacific salmon.

Where do B.C. salmon spend their ocean life?

THE PACIFIC SALMON is the most important of the continuing great fishery riches of the entire North Pacific Ocean. That is why the Department of Fisheries of Canada is doing everything within its power to ensure that the harvesting of the widely distributed salmon stocks shall remain perpetual and rewarding.

One of the most intensive high seas research programmes has been undertaken in order to determine whether salmon which originate in North American streams intermingle on the high seas with those which come from streams entering the Pacific on the Asiatic west.

Last summer, for the second successive season, Canada's fishery scientists—co-operating with specialists from the United States and Japan—carried out test fishing operations over an area of half a million square miles. These investigations revealed that salmon on the North American side are found in great numbers as far north as the Bering Sea; the southern limits of the salmon's ocean habitat are apparently governed by rising water temperatures.

Such co-operative programmes, with their resulting exchange of research data, provide the information so essential for the proper management of the salmon stocks which support a vital Canadian industry.

Constant Terror Lot of Algerians

By JOHN BUSH

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Citizens of Algiers live in a perpetual state of tension, wondering all the time what will happen next.

The main preoccupation in this North African city of 192,000 Europeans and 162,000 Moslems is when and where the next terrorist bomb will go off, and what kind of trouble will follow in its wake.

On June 11, at the funerals of some of the 10 people killed by a bomb explosion on a cliff-top dancehall two days earlier, angry Europeans stormed through the streets of Algiers, beating at least five Moslems to death and wrecking hundreds of Moslem-owned stores.

The terrorism is the work of insurgents, fighting a Moslem nationalist uprising against French rule in Algeria that began 2 1/2 years ago.

OPEN EYE

Europeans here do not seem to be afraid. But they are tense and watchful. They say that you cannot be afraid all the time. One gets used to the uncertainty, and carries on normally.

The streets of Algiers, with its big, modern buildings dotting the Mediterranean hillside, look like those of any other busy city, except for the presence everywhere of armed men in various uniforms.

Moslem and European women jostle one another in the markets under the eyes of police carrying submachineguns. Troops and police are on patrol or on guard everywhere.

On buses, uniformed home guardsmen search parcels and women's handbags for concealed bombs. An armed guard is aboard buses travelling out of town.

ALWAYS VIGILANT

Men sit on stools at the entrance to hotels, bars and stores, examining parcels, briefcases and bags, and sometimes searching customers for arms.

A car backfiring in Algiers is liable to make people scatter for cover.

At any moment, jeeploads of troops are liable to speed through the streets on their way to the scene of an incident, to carry out a search following a report that a bomb has been planted or to comb a district for suspects.

An incidental result of this has been a step towards solving the city's traffic problem. Military authorities banned parking on both sides of the streets.

All but a few of the alleys leading into the hillside Casbah the old Arab quarter of Algiers have been sealed off with barbed wire entanglements to prevent terrorists from escaping into the crowded alleys after throwing a bomb or shooting down a European.

The barbed wire ring around the Casbah also helped to pro-

Shell to Sell Natural Gas For Pipeline

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sponsors of a $330,000,000 natural gas pipeline from Alberta to California and officials of Shell Oil Company announced today an agreement to buy from Shell a substantial part of the natural gas needed for the 1,300-mile pipeline.

During the first 10 years of gas delivery Shell will be paid more than $100,000,000, officials said. An estimated $15,000,000 will be paid the Alberta provincial government in gas royalties.

Jack K. Horton, president of the newly-formed Alberta and Southern Gas Co. Ltd., said the gas will be purchased for Pacific Gas and Electric Company of San Francisco for distribution in the California market.

Shell officials estimate that the company could supply 200,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day. Four major natural gas fields in which Shell and Canadian Shell Explorations, Limited, have holdings are involved. The fields are in the Waterton area; at Sarcee, 15 miles south-west of Calgary; at Crossfield, 20 miles north of Calgary; and in the Homeleg-Rimby field, 60 miles south of Edmonton.

Present plans call for the project to go into operation in late 1960 with initial deliveries of 400,000,000 cubic feet daily.

Avro Raising Capital For Dosco Purchase

TORONTO (BUP)—Shareholders of A. V. Roe Canada Ltd., a mushrooming British-controlled industrial giant, meet today to authorize creation of new capital so that Avro can buy control of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

The outcome of the special general meeting this afternoon was a foregone conclusion. A top executive of the company said it was "definite" that the shareholders would approve an increase of 2,500,000 common shares.

One very good reason for the confident statement was that

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Considerable activity in flax marked trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Operations were mixed with buying by export houses and American interests and selling by southern sources as well as hedges. Prices were inclined to be irregular and easier.

Oats and barley trade was purely domestic and prices moved in a narrow range. Rye quotations reflected United States markets in a light trade. There was very little feature in the trade.

There were no reports of overseas business in Canadian coarse grains but there was indication of an inquiry from the United Kingdom for a small quantity of flax.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom, 935,000; Germany, 785,000; Japan, 375,000; and The Netherlands, 370,000.

Strike Threat Eased For 1,500 Engineers

A strike threat by 1,500 operating engineers which could halt several large construction projects on Vancouver Island appears headed for settlement.

Heavy Construction Association of B.C., representing 21 companies, has offered to meet the 20 per cent wage increase sought by the union.

Harvey Nixon, Vancouver, president of Local 115, International Union of Operating Engineers, said Wednesday that terms of the offer have been sent to members "in every camp in B.C."

The terms also have been sent to the companies involved. Both sides have to decide whether they will be accepted.

"There are just discussions on fringe benefits left," Mr. Nixon said. "I don't think settlement will be held up long now."

The engineers, including 500

on the Island, previously voted four to one in favor of a strike to back up their demands.

SCOUTS LEFT WAITING

LONDON (CP) — More than 100 Canadian boy scouts, scheduled to return to Canada by air Wednesday, waited with growing impatience today for their ride home.

They had expected to leave by chartered aircraft, but on arriving at London airport were told they would have to wait until early Friday.

Maurice Demers of Toronto, a Rover scout, said nobody he spoke to, including the contingent leader, could offer any explanation for the delay.

"Most of the boys had spent what was left of their money buying souvenirs and didn't have enough left to feed a pigeon," said Demers. "Some spent the day walking through parks and some went to shows."

Car Dives Into Inlet, 3 Vancouver Men Die

VANCOUVER (From BUP and CP dispatches) — Three men were killed today when a car smashed through a guard rail on the city's Second Narrows Bridge and plunged into 30 feet of water in Burrard Inlet.

A fourth man survived the death plunge which occurred about 7 a.m. He has been taken to the Vancouver General Hospital suffering shock. Authorities described his condition as "satisfactory."

Names of the victims were withheld by police.

A hospital spokesman said the four men were submerged in their car in the waters of the inlet "for five minutes," before rescuers were able to pull them free and lift them to the surface.

The spokesman adds that the lone survivor of the accident "was not the first of the four to be brought up."

Inhalator crews applied artificial respiration at the scene. Ed Hansen was wedged in the car and rescuers had to hold his head above the water to free him.

He said they pulled the first man out feet first. All four were cut and bleeding, he said. Svent Jensen, a worker on the new Second Narrows bridge, said he heard the railing crash and saw a car "twist over and fall into the water."

He said he could see only the roof of the car sticking out of the water. Jensen said he thought the men were all alive when he reached the scene.

"We managed to get three out rather quickly," he said.

The fourth man, believed to be the driver, was wedged in the car and rescuers had to hold his head above the water to free him.

Youths Soured On Service Life

(Part of the juvenile problem in Victoria is created by young people who drop out of school early and find themselves insufficiently equipped to hold jobs. This is what Times reporter Pete Loudon discovered when he made a survey of the various agencies dealing with the problem. In a survey of four articles Loudon sums up his findings. This is his third article.)

By PETE LOUDON

Department of national defence recruiting depots for the army, navy and air force aren't getting their message through to many local youngsters.

Their efforts also are being sabotaged by some of their recent recruits.

There are hundreds of them in Victoria and they look like logical military material.

These boys are gradually facing up to the lack of work for them in Victoria. Those who have gone to other cities have come home, often to report "things are tough everywhere."

So why not the services? A cross-section of the out-of-work boys was asked, "What's holding you back?"

"It's the discipline," they chorused.

Arctic 'Path-Blazer' Praised by U.S. Navy

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian navy's Arctic patrol ship Labrador, which has discovered two new deep-draft passages in the Canadian Arctic, has been congratulated by the United States navy.

Labrador this summer established that navigable passages exist through Bellot Strait, between Somerset Island and Boothia Peninsula, and between Resor and Pike Islands near the head of Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island. The latter adds a new approach into Baffin Island's Frobisher Bay, from the Foxe Basin area.

Vice-Admiral John M. Will, commander of the U.S. Navy's Military Sea Transportation

Service, said his formation especially appreciates the Labrador's achievement in the Frobisher area because his command had experienced two costly groundings in Frobisher Bay.

Rear-Admiral Roy Gano, commander of an MSTST Arctic task force, messaged:

"Your discerning the need for additional navigable channels, and seizing the opportunity while accomplishing assigned duties and coping with unseen operational problems was a very fine example of initiative, resourcefulness and professional competence, reflecting great credit to the Royal Canadian Navy."

Russ Reject 'Useless' West Arms Cut Plan

Canada Did Her Part---John D. On Arms Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today the Canadian government has agreed to include all or part of Canada for an aerial inspection system in a world disarmament program, if Russia reciprocates.

In a 700-word statement in his dual capacity as prime minister and external affairs minister, Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada "considers that a useful start in providing safeguards against surprise attack could be made in the Arctic areas."

Commenting on Western disarmament proposals advanced today in London, he said Canada would do her "utmost to ensure that the system works effectively."

Most of Mr. Diefenbaker's statement was a resume of the West's proposals, made in the sub-committee of the United Nations disarmament commission.

Nations disarmament commission of which Canada is a member along with the United States, Britain, France and Russia.

Inspection is necessary to insure that all parties to the proposed agreement carry out their obligations, he said.

"It is our belief that it is of the greatest importance to have in operation such systems of inspection if we are to ensure that under a disarmament treaty the nations will enjoy no less security than their present defences provide."

'Sought to Meet Russ Interests'

"Because of this belief the Canadian government has agreed, if the Soviet Union will reciprocate, to the inclusion of either the whole or a part of Canada in an equitable system of aerial inspection and will do its utmost to ensure that the system works effectively."

"We consider that a useful start in providing safeguards against surprise attack could be made in the Arctic areas."

Canada's participation in shaping the proposals had been guided by a desire to find the means of avoiding war.

"Any war could provide the spark which could lead to nuclear conflagration," he said.

"We consider that a realistic and practical basis for a first stage from which we could work with confidence toward more far-reaching measures. In preparing these proposals we have, with our Allies, sought constantly to meet the legitimate interests and policies of the Soviet Union."

The West had sought ideas capable of immediate application because time was making the disarmament problem "ever more intractable."

If Russia displayed corresponding willingness to cooperate "significant and rewarding" results could be expected.

SYRIA DENIES B AND K VISIT

DAMASCUS (AP) — The Syrian foreign ministry today denied reports that Russia's Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev have been invited to Syria or will visit the country before the end of the year.

"It's just not true," said a Syrian spokesman of the report broadcast by the Israeli radio and published abroad by a British news agency.

Control Locks Blamed In B.C. Air Disaster

OTTAWA (CP) — The transport department said today a locked tail elevator was the cause of a crash at Port Hardy airport, B.C., killing 14 of 18 persons aboard a Pacific Western Airlines DC-3 aircraft June 23.

The report said that before takeoff the pilot was seen removing the rudder and aileron locks. The base engineer also noted that these parts were free, but did not check the elevators, the report added.

The airline's operations manual required the pilot-in-command "to assure himself that the elevator control locks are removed before flight."

The pilot was among those killed. He was Capt. Gerald W. Allen, 37, of Richmond.

The report added that the aircraft touched the runway after a long approach and bounced into an exceptionally sharp climb, at the top of which it stalled and crashed nose down.

A coroner's jury recommended that the department review the fire-fighting equipment needs at all airports. The department said the Port Hardy fire crew responded quickly and efficiently at the time of the accident. Plans were under way to replace the crash truck there with a new one of larger capacity.

Low Wants Change In Senate Naming

OTTAWA (BUP) — The Conservative government should ask the provinces to nominate persons to fill at least half the 16 vacancies in the Senate, Social Credit leader Solon Low said today.

If the provinces had a hand in filling the vacancies, Low said, the appointments would "provide a more accurate reflection of the political elements in the country."

Mr. Diefenbaker could fill the other half of the vacancies himself, he added.

Flying Victim Named

METZ, France (CP) — Officials of Canada's NATO air division today identified the pilot killed in a mid-air collision of two RCAF Sabre jets Wednesday as FO Stuart Myers, 29, of Winchester, Ont.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

While "summer suns are glowing over land and sea" we thank Thee, Lord, for all the beauty of the earth, for the wonder of each new day, for the revelations of Thy goodness which meet us on every hand. But when we look at the sorrow and sadness, which we can never escape, our hearts are saddened to think of "what man has made of man." Pardon us, O God. Give us new grace to live as Thou wouldst have us live. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

WEATHERMAN GLUM ON HOLIDAY PROSPECT

Fine Weather Riding for a Fall

Weatherman William Macle was less than enthusiastic today in viewing the weather outlook for the holiday week-end.

"I can't give a forecast that far ahead," he said, "but I can say that there is a storm near the Queen Charlotte Islands, and the high pressure ridge that gave us our nice weather this week is collapsing slowly."

In addition, the weather always seems to get touchy near a major holiday," he said. Skies will be clear, tonight, and temperatures will drop to the middle 40s in colder areas, he said. Friday will be essentially sunny, with the thermometer reaching to 74 degrees in sheltered locations.

MISSED PLANE BUT GOT GIRL

MONTREAL (CP) — Werner Pitsch, one of the Canadian tourists stranded nearly two weeks in Paris after a chartered flight mixup, counts his Paris stop-over well spent. "I certainly can't complain," he said. "Two days after we got stuck I met a beautiful young lady at the Canadian embassy. Now we're engaged."

New British Atom Tests Next Month

CANBERRA (Reuters) — A new series of British atomic tests at the Maralinga proving grounds will begin next month, Howard Beale, Australian supply minister, announced tonight.

The last series of British tests ended on June 10 this year when Britain's third hydrogen bomb was exploded high over the central Pacific after being dropped by an RAF jet bomber. Beale said the weapons tested in the new series will be in the kiloton range. A kiloton is equivalent to an explosive force of 1,000 tons of TNT.

The tests will be conducted by the British government with the co-operation of the Australian government, he said, and observers from Commonwealth and allied countries will witness the tests.

U.S. Planning Second Test Of Missile

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Reports that a second United States missile may be shot from here this week circulated today following Wednesday's test-firing of a projectile with a range of 1,500 miles.

The defence department would not comment on whether the firing was a reply to Russia's claim that Soviet scientists have tested successfully an intercontinental missile able to deliver a hydrogen bomb anywhere in the world.

Neither would officials disclose whether the missile fired Wednesday was a Thor or a Jupiter. Both have ranges of 1,500 miles. The Jupiter was developed by the U.S. Army, the Thor by the air force.

The 50-foot Jupiter has been fired successfully before. Unofficial reports say one rose 700 miles in a previous test and travelled 1,650 miles over the Atlantic at an average speed of more than 5,000 miles an hour.

Reports before the firing were that the Jupiter would be tested Wednesday and the Thor would be fired Friday.

Guns Hail Duke, Wife Arriving in Malaya

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuters) — Guns boomed and Malaya's guard of honor snapped to attention as Britain's Duke and Duchess of Gloucester arrived today to hand over sovereign independence to Malaya.

The new state achieves its independence Saturday. It will remain in the Commonwealth.

They Heard Missile, Japanese Believe

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japanese meteorologists today said they have reason to believe that a nuclear explosion in Russia on Aug. 22 was caused by a missile-borne device.

High-altitude shock waves were recorded at Kyoto University on that date.

'Contains Nothing Of Genuine Value'

LONDON (AP) — Russia tonight turned down the West's plan for a limited disarmament program and insisted it contained nothing of "genuine value," a British informant reported.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin delivered his verdict shortly after the United States, Britain, France and Canada submitted a package plan designed to dispel the shadows of nuclear war.

In a 50-minute speech, the Russian declared that the West's working paper "cannot be considered as offering anything of genuine value."

The program, presented by the West and climaxing five months of often-acrimonious meetings of the United Nations disarmament sub-committee, spelled out a gradual shedding by the world's major powers of their armaments, including nuclear weapons.

Looking into the future, it urged that "outer space" be reserved for peaceful and scientific purposes, called for an eventual halt to the manufacture of nuclear weapons and controls on the export and import of "designated armaments."

It urged creation of an international control organization under the United Nations security council which would see that provisions of the agreement were carried out. The proposals were put forward as a "package deal," the West said — the whole program must be accepted, not just parts of it.

Many of the proposals embodied in it already have been advanced in the sub-committee and have usually met with violent condemnation from Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin. The other four members of the sub-committee are the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

Proposals Joint NATO Effort

The United States originated the proposals but they were worked out jointly with Britain, France and Canada and cleared with the rest of the NATO allies. The 11 sections of the program make in essence these provisions:

1. Within a year of the agreement coming into force, the United States and Russia would limit their armed forces to 2,500,000 men and Britain and France to 750,000 each. At the same time each country would surrender an agreed amount of armaments to an international control organization.

Later there could be negotiations for a second and third stage reduction in armed forces, until American and Soviet forces were cut to 1,700,000 each, and British and French to 650,000 each.

2. Each country would keep the international control organization informed of its military expenditure.

3. Each country would undertake not to use nuclear weapons "if an armed attack has not placed the party in a situation of individual or collective self-defence."

4. One month after an international control system has been set up, no country would make fissile material for military purposes. Stockpiles of nuclear weapons would be reduced.

5. Each country would suspend, under international control, nuclear tests for 12 months. If a satisfactory inspection system was devised, and progress was made toward ending nuclear weapon production, tests would be suspended for another 12 months.

Neglect Charged In Falls Death

POWELL RIVER (CP) — A coroner accused the B.C. forestry department Wednesday of neglecting to install "even rudimentary safety devices" at the top of Chatterbox Falls.

The coroner, Dr. C. R. Marlatt, said at an inquest there was no excuse for the death of Bruce Hastings, 20, of Vancouver, who was swept over the falls Tuesday.

The jury found that Hastings died accidentally.

The 120-foot falls at Princess Louisa Inlet are a scenic attraction which draw hundreds of tourists every year, Dr. Marlatt said.

"But for some reason, the forestry department has neglected to provide even rudimentary safety devices at the precarious top of them."

He said there isn't even a railing for people to hang onto.

In Spring Young Russ' Fancy Turns to Tricks

PARIS (UP) — The International Amateur Athletics Federation has been asked to look into the strange case of Russian high jumpers who broke records with the help of super-secret track shoes suspected of acting like springs.

The shoes came to the attention of western observers in the recent Moscow sports festival where a little-known Russian by the name of Yuriy Stepanov bettered Charlie Dumas's world record of 7 feet 0 3/4 inches by half an inch, and another Russian cleared 7 feet. Both wore shoes that looked strange.

No westerner was allowed to inspect them. But action photographs showed they were wearing something on their take-off foot that looked like an ordinary basketball shoe — except for a more than inch-thick second sole with over-size spikes tacked under the normal sole.

AGIN' CIVIL RIGHTS

Southern Senator Natters 15 Hours

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Strom Thurmond (Dem.-S.C.) conducted an around-the-clock, last-gasp filibuster today against the compromise civil rights bill.

Thurmond, the South's unsuccessful candidate for President as the States' Rights Party nominee in 1948, began his talkathon at 8.54 Wednesday night. He was still talking at noon, 15 hours later.

His speech was not an uninterrupted one, however, so he was not near setting a filibuster record. He had breaks totalling one hour and five minutes. An aide said he did not believe Thurmond himself knew when he would quit.

Thurmond's speech forced the Senate into its longest continuous session since April 24-25, 1953, when Sen. Wayne Morse (Dem.-Ore.) set the filibuster record by talking 22 hours and 26 minutes without interruption against the tidelands oil bill.

Precision Arms Still Power Key

OTTAWA (BUP)—The balance of world power may still lie with conventional precision weapons unless the Russians have an inter-continental ballistic missile which is extremely accurate, Gordon Watson, director of weapons research for the Defence Research Board, said today.

COULD BE BASIS

France, the U.S., the United Kingdom and Canada, as the Western powers on the United Nations disarmament sub-committee, had presented proposals "which we believe can provide the basis for an agreement on a first stage of disarmament."

They could be given immediate effect, without political conditions, "and so make a tangible contribution to world peace now by rendering more remote the danger of war."

He described as "a significant step towards disarmament" a proposal to reduce to 2,500,000 the armed forces of the United States and the Soviet Union and to 750,000 for France and the United Kingdom.

First-stage proposals would place certain armaments under international supervision in depositories within the countries' own territories. "This will be a valuable introduction to more extensive reductions in armaments envisaged in the second and third stages, when the arms retained would be related to the reduced manpower ceilings," he said.

REVERSE THE TREND

The nuclear disarmament proposals were designed first to stop the atomic-arms race "and then reverse the trend by reducing the reserves of nuclear weapons."

Proposals to suspend nuclear test explosions while negotiating to cut off the production of fissionable material for weapons kept the matter in perspective.

"The proposals treat suspension of tests as a matter for immediate action while keeping the problem in proper perspective, for the ending of tests cannot end the nuclear arms race."

FATHER'S BODY FOUND NEAR TRAGEDY SCENE

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—City police Wednesday night recovered the body of a fellow-officer from the St. Lawrence River, less than 50 feet from where he plunged to his death with his three children.

There was no sign of the bodies of the children, believed drowned by their father, Roland Masse, 42, chief of detectives, during a fit of depression Tuesday night.

Masse had spent two eight-day periods at the St. Francis of Assisi Hospital within the last three months for treatment of "mental disorders," hospital authorities said.

6. Within three months of the plan coming into force, all parties "will co-operate in the establishment of a technical committee to study the design of an inspection system which would make it possible to assure that the sending of objects through outer space will be exclusively for peaceful and scientific purposes."

7. This section reiterated the aerial inspection proposals tabled by John Foster Dulles, United States secretary of state, while visiting London Aug. 2.

Russia is offered the choice of an aerial inspection and photography zone either over the United States, Soviet Union and Canada, or in the Arctic.

If she accepts either, she is further offered a European zone.

8. The international control organization would be under the security council of the United Nations.

9. The control organization would have authority to study a system for regulating the export and import of "designated armaments."

10. Each country might suspend its obligations, wholly or in part, if it considered its security threatened as a result of violation of the disarmament convention by another country.

11. The provisions of the working paper were inseparable. The western powers were not committed to any one proposal unless the rest were accepted.

Vote on Shares Issue Seals Roe-Desco Deal

TORONTO (CP)—Shareholders of A. V. Roe Canada Limited today voted unanimously to issue new shares so that the firm can buy control of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

President A. Crawford Corbett told them "I frankly doubt" that Desco shareholders would oppose the change of control.

He said a formal offer to buy control of the Maritimes firm would be mailed to its shareholders Friday.

2 'Trusties' Missing

CHILLIWACK, B.C.—Two men were reported missing today from the Oakalla Prison forestry camp, 10 miles south of Chilliwack. The two—identified as Rene Cuveliere, 31, and Frances James, 22—were described as "trusties" with only a few weeks to serve of one-year sentences.

cause he lacks high school education?

"An army lieutenant outlined the soldier apprentice plan. Boys of 16 with Grade 8 can get thorough trades training, the equivalent of a "civvie street" education, military training and fine comradeship.

The plan was introduced in 1952. Since then many apprentice soldiers have gained Grade 10 educations and gone on to trade training from there. They get full pay at 17 and have 30 days holiday with pay. Seven years of service produces a man trained for many civilian jobs, betters him physically and mentally.

DISCOURAGED

Boys wanting to join to escape school are discouraged. School is part of the program.

A similar apprentice plan offered by the navy wants Grade 10 as a prerequisite. But at the same time, many trades are open for enlistment—even if the applicant only has Grade 8 and in rare cases Grade 7.

These include seaman, engineering mechanic, cook, steward, bandsman, communicator, and naval airman.

The air force will take men with low grade education for ground crew trades. But often, recruiting personnel will recommend, "Go back to school."

Each service offers a fine career with high pay and an adventurous life.

STILL ON CORNER

Recruiters claim a "terrific response" but apparently the message isn't getting across where it would do the most good.

The kids are still on the corner—and unless there is another Korea, most of them don't plan to join up.

Employers say they can't provide jobs.

Educators say many are not equipped for further schooling. National employment officials say there is no use leaving town.

The kids themselves say they are shy of service life. You can't knock them on the head.

Rubber Footwear Import Cut Asked

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor and the Canadian rubber footwear industry Wednesday urged the federal government to take immediate measures to cut down the imports of footwear from low-cost labor countries.

In a brief presented to Finance Minister Donald Fleming, the combined industry-labor group asked that the government fix duties on the footwear so it would land in Canada at a price 10 per cent lower than that of average of lowest-cost Canadian-produced goods of the same type.

They also proposed the government negotiate an agreement with India to voluntarily limit shoe exports to Canada to 250,000 pair a year.

The brief said that without some government intervention the 5,000 employees of the rubber footwear industry in Canada would soon be out of work.

BURNABY GIRL WINS PNE TITLE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Carol Lucas, stunning 18-year-old brunette, was chosen Miss PNE Wednesday night at the Pacific National Exhibition. Awards included $1,000.

Entered as Miss Burnaby, she won out over 18 other contestants.

Her victory automatically gives her also the title of Miss B.C. Lions and she will travel to Toronto in November to compete in the Miss Grey Cup contest.

Army Denies Secret Weapon 'Sterilizing'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Army said Wednesday an investigation has indicated no scientific basis for allegations that some Second World War soldiers were made sterile by a secret weapon experiment.

The secret weapons, never actually used in battle, were powerful arc lamps mounted on tanks. The idea was to suddenly switch them upon enemy troops, caught by surprise on a battlefield at night. The lights were expected to blind the enemy soldiers.

The idea was for allied rifle men, hidden behind the tanks, to pounce upon the brilliantly illuminated but blinded enemy troops.

Last June some of the estimated 3,000 or so U.S. soldiers who were exposed to the powerful lamps said they believed the light machines may have made them unable to father children. After a number of newspaper items appeared, quoting veterans who were exposed to the lights, the army promised an investigation.

The army announcement Wednesday said the matter now has been thoroughly investigated and "there is no valid scientific basis which could support the newspaper allegations."

Railway Revenues In Canada Down

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company Wednesday announced net earnings of $3,047,213 for July, 1957, compared with $3,679,725 in the corresponding month last year.

Gross earnings last month were $42,434,848, down from $43,098,211, while working expenses were $39,387,635, down from $39,418,486 in July, 1956.

For the first seven months of 1957, net earnings totalled $18,192,293, down from $19,150,101 in the corresponding period last year. Gross earnings were $281,962,744 against $285,972,710, while expenses were $263,770,481 against $266,822,609 in the first seven months of 1956.

Sinking With 94 Lost Probed in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The captain and crew of an American freighter were questioned today in an effort to determine the cause of a collision that sank an Argentine river boat and left 94 persons missing.

All the missing persons were among the 247 persons aboard the river steamer City of Buenos Aires. No one aboard the freighter Mormacsurf, owned by Moore-McCormack Lines of New York, was injured. Only slight hope now is held that some of the missing might have reached safety after the riverboat went down Tuesday night in the Uruguay River 78 miles north of Buenos Aires. Argentine officials said Capt. Kenneth J. Sommers and other crew members of the Mormacsurf were "being detained incommunicado." They stressed that such procedure is normal to give authorities the opportunity to take testimony.

The 3,754-ton City of Buenos Aires went down before lifeboats could be launched. Most survivors went into the water in lifejackets.

A government report said 153 persons—66 crew members and 87 passengers—were rescued from the river steamer. Survivors said many of those lost were old people and children. Missing is Silverio Brizuela, captain of the City of Buenos Aires. Local newspapers report there has been no confirmation.

125 More Police Cars In Holiday Crackdown

Strong Warning Coupled With Safe-Driving Plea

Police and government authorities today appealed to the public to drive safely over the Labor Day weekend. They backed their appeal with a warning: RCMP traffic patrolmen will be out in record number to enforce the law.

"I regret that an appeal for safe driving should be accompanied by an implied promise of prosecution," said Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

"But experience has shown that good driving habits and the immediate prosecution are related."

Assistant-Commissioner C. W. Harvison, head of the RCMP in the province, said special measures are being taken by the force in an effort to cut down the toll of dead and injured on the highways.

"People may think we are out to get more convictions," he said. "That is not so. I would be happy to see no convictions provided there were no accidents."

Every available RCMP constable and patrol car which can be spared temporarily from non-essential duties will be added to normal highway patrols.

For the purposes of the campaign, the weekend begins Friday evening and runs through to Tuesday morning.

A total of 125 additional patrol cars, including ghost cars and radar-equipped vehicles, and 253 additional personnel will take part in the drive.

Supt. J. R. W. Bordeleau, officer in charge of criminal investigation for B.C., said the campaign is an experiment, impossible to continue at length because of other police commitments.

RCMP members were asked to volunteer for the extra duty and lined up wholeheartedly, he said.

"We were amazed at the high number of men who volunteered when the plan was drawn up. They will be giving up their own free time during the holiday weekend to make the roads safer for everyone."

"It shows the tremendous interest in this type of preventative campaign."

"The plan is to saturate all main highways in the district with every available car and all manpower so it will be impossible to drive any distance without encountering an RCMP patrol."

Statistics which demonstrate the need for safety consciousness on the part of every motorist were provided today by

George Lindsay, provincial superintendent of motor-vehicles. This is the record of last year's Labor Day holiday period:

Ten persons killed; 173 injured. There were a total of 844 accidents and property damage amounted to $177,425.

On the basis of a decline in recent months in the number of traffic fatalities, Mr. Lindsay looks for an improvement this weekend.

He estimates that five persons will lose their lives on the highway over the four-day period. "The chance is, primarily yours," Mr. Lindsay told B.C. motorists.

"Careful driving and strict observance of safety rules can mean the difference between a happy and exciting weekend and a horrible nightmare of death and destruction."

The superintendent issued a special warning to parents: "Nine children between the ages of one and five have lost their lives while walking or playing on our highways this year."

Mr. Lindsay is hopeful there will be a decline of 50 fatalities this year from 1956.

During the month of July, 20 persons were killed, compared with 37 in the same month last year. Injuries were also down slightly, although the number of accidents continues to increase.

So far this year there have been 146 traffic fatalities, as against 179 at the same date in 1956.

The superintendent credits the program of drivers' record reviews and increased suspensions launched in 1953 for the improvement.

"I said then it would take about five years to bear results," Mr. Lindsay said. "We're seeing the first signs now."

The seven-day deadline was coupled with 14 proposed changes the union wants made to a still-undisclosed offer made by the dairies last week.

A dairy official said the ultimatum had not been delivered officially to the companies this morning. But the employers would "get together" this afternoon for a discussion.

"I don't know what the union is proposing now," he said. "Our offer was pretty close to the conciliation board report. There probably should be some news tomorrow."

A union official said the get-together decision was made because the "men are fed up to the teeth" with the prolonged negotiations that began in January.

The union want implementation of the conciliation report calling for wage increases of $30 and $32.50 a month and continuation of six-day weekly delivery.

The dairies previously rejected the delivery schedule and countered with five-day weekly delivery, skipping Wednesday and Sunday, to offset the wage increases.

A 13-months-old girl received a severe head gash when in collision with a car driven by her teen-aged brother near Little Saanich Mountain at about 10:30 a.m. today.

Victoria Ann Cook, 5090 West Saanich, was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital. Her condition is described as good.

Police said relatives visiting the Cooks at their home opposite Dominion Astrophysical Observatory gates parked their car in the driveway and the girl's brother Barry was turning it around ready to leave when the accident happened.

Graduate of Oak Bay High School, Tony Whittingham, 18, of 2320 Woodhouse, has received a $200 university entrance scholarship from the Canadian Legion, B.C. Command.

Tony scored 91.1 per cent average in provincial examinations last June and will enter Victoria College in September. His major will be medicine or civil engineering.

Floodlighting At Beacon Hill Urged by City

Centennial Group Hears Plan Tonight

City council finance committee will recommend a new project to the district centennial committee tonight — floodlighting and night decoration of Beacon Hill Park.

The proposal could reopen the centennial grants controversy which was thought to be finally settled a month ago.

The park lighting suggestion was expected to be especially attractive to committee members due to a suggestion by Mayor Percy Scurrell that Victoria might pay half the cost, over and above its share of the centennial pot.

Finance committee received a letter from city electrical engineer Kenneth Reid today suggesting Beacon Hill Park be lighted similar to "what has been done in Butchart's Gardens."

He pictured a "... fairland of illuminated flowers and shrubs, fountains and pools."

All wiring would be underground and the park would be made as attractive by day as it is by night.

He said parks superintendent W. H. Warren enthusiastically supports the scheme.

Aldermen A. I. Curtis and Arthur Dowell also supported the project. Mayor Scurrell said if the centennial committee would allocate part of its funds the city might match a $10,000 or $15,000 contribution.

City manager C. C. Wyatt said it is not too late to make the suggestion as the intermunicipal centennial committee has not yet applied for provincial centennial grants.

Early in July, the centennial committee of Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt delegates approved a plan to disburse centennial grant funds, $70,908 to the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, $52,000 to Beaver-Elk Lake development, $10,000 to Esquimalt's Gorge Park and $8,500 to an undisclosed project in Oak Bay.

It was later learned some of them were given to cars parked where restriction signs had not yet been erected, so police have cancelled all the tickets.

But those issued today will be effective.

Late drivers had converged on the police station to complain.

St. Joseph's Hospital also filed a complaint, stating some warning should have been given before the new parking regulations were made effective.

(Council's action was outlined in the press a month ago, but the by-law just became effective.)

Mayor Scurrell said: "We don't want to cause any more inconvenience than is absolutely necessary but council felt it was necessary to put the restrictions on. Up to now we have been accustomed to parking our cars in front of where we want to do business."

"But because of the increase in traffic it is going to be necessary for us to get accustomed to walking a few blocks. This is the condition in almost every other city at present and we have just got to realize it."

New Pandora Location Studied for Fire Hall

Plans were shaping at City Hall today for consolidation of Victoria's three public works yards and possible establishment of a new fire hall site on Pandora at Chambers.

Strangely, a fire is responsible for the changed circumstances which may settle the relocation problems facing the city.

Fire and explosion recently destroyed the Ramsay and Adams Foundry at 435 Garbally Road.

The foundry site adjoins the city's main public works yards and maintenance shops. For some years, city council has eyed the land. If it could have been obtained, materials stored on Chambers Street and in the water department yard at Pandora could be transferred to the central, single location.

Valuable Pandora holdings and less valuable Chambers Street lands could then be sold or put to other purpose.

Until the fire, the foundry firm had refused all offers.

$30,000 OFFER

Today, council finance committee approved an offer by the firm to sell for $30,000.

If council approves the deal, the city stands to save $5,000 a year at least through consolidating its works activities at Garbally Road.

Mayor Percy Scurrell said in his opinion, the Pandora yards would provide a site for the proposed new fire hall.

He said: "It would have to be carefully considered, but the fire chief has always favored erecting the new hall on the Pandora Green. The water department yard is so close, it wouldn't make any difference."

Earlier this year council approved the site of the old fire hall for erection of a new one. Since then, the proposition has been opposed by some aldermen. It was indicated council might change its mind.

Ald. Arthur Dowell's finance committee, which includes the mayor and Ald. A. I. Curtis, said payment of the $30,000 for the Ramsay property would not affect this year's budget. It would come directly from funds received by the city through sale to the federal government some years ago of Gordon Head properties.

By-law provides a penalty for violations in the business district.

Victoria Elks and Eagles bands will compete for awards in the Playfair parade at Port Angeles Saturday.

Bandmaster Bill Fry will lead a 12-member Elks Clown Band and the Fraternal Order of Eagles Band with 24 performers will be headed by Charles Smith.

Five majorettes and 22 Eaglette junior girls also will march with the Eagles band.

Fire believed started in oil cans at the rear of a Saanich Road house caused $450 estimated damage to exterior wall, windows and roof and interior smoke damage at 10:20 a.m. Wednesday.

Saanich fire department attended at the home of H. J. MacDonald, 3741 Saanich, and extinguished the blaze before it scorched more than a small area.

Point Ellice Bridge reconstruction is ahead of schedule, Mayor Percy Scurrell reported today. He said work on the approaches is a week in advance of schedule and steel work is even more advanced. Completion of the bridge was intended for early November.

City council be asked by finance committee to lift sales restrictions on city lots in vicinity of the Legislative Buildings. A reserve had been placed on the land when it appeared the government might expand east or west. The committee felt "sufficient time has elapsed" and it was pointed out there are only two city lots remaining in the area anyway.

Transition cottons, those dresses that get a girl from summer into fall in cool comfort, are both washable and wrinkle-resistant. Slim sheath with curved neckline (left) is a mixture of silk and cotton with a worsted finish. The color is a soft brown. Over the sheath goes fitted jacket with curved shoulder line and interesting standaway collar. Tiny checks in jewel color appear (centre) in dress with high surplice top and side-buttoned skirt that has easy pleats. Blouson sheath (right) in Bonnie Prince Charlie plaid has neatly tailored bow belt and high jewelry neckline. All of these fashions are in Thomas cottons. All are handy to have in a travel wardrobe for varying climates.

New Dark Cottons Smart for Early Autumn

NEW YORK (NEA)—Things have reached a point this fall where a girl can happily wear her transition cottons into October if she likes.

The reason? Styling, of course. Knowing that she wants to get into something dark during the dog days, designers have given her darkened cottons that will look like autumn while keeping her cool.

But more than that, they've used sleeve lengths, necklines and jacket treatments that all suggest fall. A good many of these dark cottons are handy not only for getting from summer into autumn but for travel involving several climate changes.

Transition cottons follow current fashion trends, of course.

This means that we see the softened sheath, the neat little jacket dress with soft, widened collar and the wide skirt with easy pleats. They're meant to be worn with a little velvet cap, suede or calf shoes and frosty white gloves.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Caterpillar Wiggles As He's Pulled Along

By PENNY SAVER

I found some of the cutest pull-toys today. They're made of plastic with inset sections of metal spring, so that they wiggle and quiver engagingly as they are pulled along.

My favorite was a long yellow and green caterpillar with antenna set on springs so that they quiver, too. Price is $2.49, and a turtle is the same price.

Smaller toys are a frog and a rabbit, also with inset springs. They are $1.29 each.

ROSE IN BLOOM

To add a lovely touch of color to an autumn outfit, there are large lush-looking silk roses with matching chiffon scarves. They come in gold, blue, rose, turquoise, grey, green, beige, and orange, shading from light to dark tones.

Price for the two items is $3.

For those of you who don't like the bulk of a blouse under a suit but like the look of one filling in the suit neckline, I've found some very pretty vestees that simply tie around the waist.

They are of sheer nylon tulle that drapes softly to form a crossover V neckline. Colors are champagne, coral, turquoise, mauve, pale blue and yellow.

The price tag reads $2.25. Pure silk broadcloth is used to fashion, neatly tailored blouses with bow-tied collars, hemstitched fronts and short sleeves.

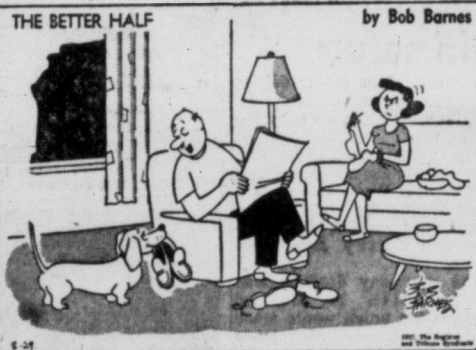

In pale blue, pink, or black checks, they're $5.95.

ALLOWANCE AID

Most parents nowadays like to give their children practice in handling their own money, usually by giving them a regular weekly allowance.

If you'd like help in deciding how much your child should have, what items he should be expected to pay for, and how to handle special allowance problems, there is a good Money Management booklet on "Children's Spending."

To get it, you send ten cents to cover mailing costs. I'll be pleased to give you the address, and the names of the stores where I found today's other items, if you call me at 2-3131.

"No, those are her slippers—mine are a couple sizes smaller."

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Position of junior brides- maids:

My 14-year-old twin sisters will be junior bridesmaids at my wedding in October. As time draws near, I get more and more confused as to where to place them in the processional and recessional, as they will have no male partners. If they march down the aisle first in the processional and move to the extreme left at the altar, they would be the last out and it may look awkward. Would it be all right for them to stop near the centre, leaving space for the maid of honor, then have the other bridesmaids stand at their left? If so, they could follow the maid of honor and best man in the recessional.

Louise Davis answers: Had you thought of having two more ushers to balance the number of girls in the bridal party? They can be the same age as your sisters, even older. If you expect many people at the church, the more ushers the better. But if you decide not to add the ushers, don't be concerned, for you can work out your problem at the rehearsal. For the processional, you would have the twins precede the bridesmaids. If, at the altar, they are placed at the extreme left, it wouldn't be at all awkward if they bring up the rear in the recessional. You couldn't very well hide the fact that there would be more girls than men. An alternative equally as good would be to have the twins follow you and the bride- groom. They could still do it from their places at the ex- treme left. I don't recommend placing them near the centre, for the older attendants have a priority in relation to the bride.

J. Moul, Port Alberni. A reception will follow at the Barclay Hotel, Port Alberni.

For the processional, you would have the twins precede the bridesmaids. If, at the altar, they are placed at the extreme left, it wouldn't be at all awkward if they bring up the rear in the recessional. You couldn't very well hide the fact that there would be more girls than men. An alternative equally as good would be to have the twins follow you and the bride- groom. They could still do it from their places at the ex- treme left. I don't recommend placing them near the centre, for the older attendants have a priority in relation to the bride.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

General Health Reflected In Appearance of Hair

Lucky is the woman who has a luxuriant head of hair. This boosts beauty tremendously. This characteristic often seems to run in families although this is not always the case. One child may have moderate to thin hair while another has heavy hair. Even then these divergent tendencies probably came from one parent or grand- parent.

Many women worry about thin hair and write to know what to do about it. First look to your general health! Your hair is a living, growing part of your body and as such no doubt, is affected by the food you eat, the exercise you take and the thoughts you think. We all know that after times of strain and worry or following an illness the hair often falls out or becomes dull and lifeless. Be especially careful about your diet. Be sure that it gives you a high intake in vitamin B complex. It might even be wise to reinforce your menus with vitamin B complex capsules. Ask your physician about this. Also try to form good health habits. Avoid strain and relax more.

Local stimulation is also helpful. Massage your scalp and brush your hair daily — using the proper technique. There are all kinds of motions which are called "brushing" or "massag- ing."

Even in good beauty salons you seldom find that they brush hair correctly. Usually the brush is just whipped across the top of the head a few times. This provides no stimulation for the scalp, and therein lies the value of brushing.

This is the way it should be done. Turn the bristles of the brush toward the scalp. As you sweep the brush toward the ends of the hair turn the bristles toward the ceiling. This will pull the hair gently. When you massage the scalp spread the fingers over the head and rotate the hands, keeping the fingers in the same spot. Change the position of the hands until the entire scalp has been covered.

Brushing and massaging the scalp take little time but will bring you much improvement if you indulge in them daily.

Of course a permanent helps a lot if you have thin hair just as liquid sprays are a great aid if your hair is very fine. Sprays give it body and help hold it in place.

Industrials showed no definite trend. Oils were easier on quiet selling. Copper shares held firm despite falling copper prices. South African gold shares were quietly firm.

AT VANCOUVER a quiet market saw slightly lower prices. Peace River Petroleum, 2.00 at $1.53; Vantor traded 4.30 at $1.78; Trojan moved 3.50 at $1.77; Cowichan Copper traded, 3.50 at $2.

Shell officials estimate that the company could supply 200,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day. Four major natural gas fields in which Shell and Canadian Shell Explorations, Limited, have holdings are involved. The fields are in the Waterton area; at Sarcee, 15 miles south-west of Calgary; at Crossfield, 20 miles north of Calgary; and in the Homeleg-Rimby field, 60 miles south of Edmonton.

Present plans call for the project to go into operation in late 1959 with initial deliveries of 400,000 cubic feet daily.

Shell to Sell Natural Gas For Pipeline

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sponsors of a $300,000,000 natural gas pipeline from Alberta to California and officials of Shell Oil Company announced today an agreement to buy from Shell a substantial part of the natural gas needed for the 1,300-mile pipeline.

During the first 10 years of gas delivery Shell will be paid more than $100,000,000, officials said. An estimated $15,000,000 will be paid the Alberta provincial government in gas royalties.

Jack K. Horton, president of the newly-formed Alberta and Southern Gas Co., Ltd., said the gas will be purchased for Pacific Gas and Electric Company of San Francisco for distribution in the California market.

Avro Raising Capital For Dosco Purchase

TORONTO (BUP)—Shareholders of A. V. Roe Canada Ltd., a mushrooming British-controlled industrial giant, met today to authorize creation of new capital so that Avro can buy control of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

The outcome of the special general meeting this afternoon was a foregone conclusion. A top executive of the company said it was "definite" that the shareholders would approve an increase of 2,500,000 common shares.

One very good reason for the confident statement was that Britain's Hawker Siddeley group held 83.4 per cent of the A. V. Roe shares. The group is the parent company.

Although today's meeting was a mere formality, Avro was still unsure of its bid to purchase Dosco, the main industrial trial prop of the Maritimes economy, would go through.

Details of the legal offer to Dosco directors will be made public Friday. But the board outlines already were known.

Avro has offered to buy each Dosco share for $10.25 plus one and one-quarter shares of its common stocks. The deal would cost Avro $60 million.

The 12-year-old company, which already has nine subsidiaries, will borrow between $20 and $30 million from four major banks to finance the purchase, in addition to the new issue of shares.

Strike Threat Eased For 1,500 Engineers

A strike threat by 1,500 operating engineers which could halt several large construction projects on Vancouver Island appears headed for settlement.

Heavy Construction Association of B.C., representing 21 companies, has offered to meet the 20 per cent wage increase sought by the union.

Harvey Nixon, Vancouver, president of Local 115, International Union of Operating Engineers, said Wednesday that terms of the offer have been sent to members "in every camp in B.C."

The terms also have been sent to the companies involved. Both sides have to decide whether they will be accepted.

"There are just discussions on fringe benefits left," Mr. Nixon said. "I don't think settlement will be held up long now."

The engineers, including 500

SCOUTS LEFT WAITING

LONDON (CP) — More than 100 Canadian boy scouts, scheduled to return to Canada by air Wednesday, waited with growing impatience today for their ride home.

They had expected to leave by chartered aircraft, but on arriving at London airport were told they would have to wait until early Friday.

Maurice Demers of Toronto, a Rover scout, said nobody he spoke to, including the contingent leader, could offer any explanation for the delay.

"Most of the boys had spent what was left of their money buying souvenirs and didn't have enough left to feed a pigeon," said Demers. "Some spent the day walking through parks and some went to shows."

A SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

Youths Soured
On Service Life

(Part of the juvenile problem in Victoria is created by young people who drop out of school early and find themselves insufficiently equipped to hold jobs. This is what Times reporter Pete London discovered when he made a survey of the various agencies dealing with the problem. In a survey of four articles London sums up his findings. This is his third article.)

By PETE LOUDON

Department of national defence recruiting depots for the army, navy and air force aren't getting their message through to many local youngsters.

Their efforts also are being sabotaged by some of their recent recruits.

This is the impression one gets from interviews with unemployed boys here.

There are hundreds of them in Victoria and they look like logical military material.

These boys are gradually facing up to the lack of work for them in Victoria. Those who have gone to other cities have come home, often to report "things are tough everywhere."

So why not the services? A cross-section of the out-of-work boys was asked, "What's holding you back?"

"It's the discipline," they chorused.

Then they added the pertinent observation which shows how the recruiting branches are apparently being sabotaged by their own recruits.

"We meet guys downtown who are in the services and we talk it out. And they say its for the birds and they can't wait to get out."

Good-natured, grousing about service conditions is almost a tradition. But old hands save it for the mess deck and staunchly defend their outfit in front of outsiders.

If off-duty recruits are shooting down their own chosen careers before potential comrades-in-arms, the finest programs for enlistment will be accepted as "strictly for the birds," as expressed by one interviewed lad.

This reporter called on the three recruiting units. What can the services do for the teenager who can't find work be Continued on Page 2

CAR CRASHES BRIDGE INTO INLET; 3 DEAD

Submerged
5 Minutes;
One Saved

VANCOUVER (From BUP and CP dispatches) — Three men were killed today when a car smashed through a guard rail on the city's Second Narrows Bridge and plunged 30 feet into the water of Burrard Inlet.

A fourth man survived the death plunge which occurred about 7 a.m.

He has been taken to the Vancouver General Hospital suffering shock.

Authorities described his condition as "satisfactory."

Dead are MacDougall F. Geddes, 53, the driver; Karl Hakuli, 28, and Jack Woolley, 49. The sole survivor was Al Morris, 27.

A hospital spokesman said the four men were submerged in their car in the waters of the inlet "for five minutes," before rescuers were able to pull them free and lift them to the surface.

The spokesman adds that the lone survivor of the accident "was not the first of the four to be brought up."

INHALATOR ON JOB

Inhalator crews applied artificial respiration at the scene.

Ed Hanson was one of 20 bridge workers who leaped into the water and helped right the car.

He said they pulled the first man out feet first. All four were cut and bleeding, he said.

Sven Jensen, a worker on the new Second Narrows bridge, said he heard the railing crash and saw a car "twist over and fall into the water."

He said he could see only the roof of the car sticking out of the water. Jensen said he thought the men were all alive when he reached the scene.

"We managed to get three out rather quickly," he said.

The fourth man, believed to be the driver, was wedged in the car and rescuers had to hold his head above the water to free him.

They Heard Missile, Japanese Believe

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japanese meteorologists today said they have reason to believe that a nuclear explosion in Russia on Aug. 22 was caused by a missile-borne device.

High-altitude shock waves were recorded at Kyoto University on that date.

Russ Reject 'Useless' Western Arms Cut Plan

LONDON (AP) — Russia tonight turned down the West's plan for a limited disarmament program and insisted it contained nothing of "genuine value," a British informant reported.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin delivered his verdict shortly after the United States, Britain, France and Canada submitted a package plan designed to dispel the shadows of nuclear war.

In a 50-minute speech, the Russian declared that the West's working paper "cannot be considered as offering anything of genuine value."

The program, presented by the West and climaxing five months of often acrimonious meetings of the United Nations disarmament sub-committee, spelled out a gradual shedding by the world's major powers of their armaments, including nuclear weapons.

Looking into the future, it urged that "outer space" be reserved for peaceful and scientific purposes, called for an eventual halt to the manufacture of nuclear weapons and controls on the export and import of "designated armaments."

It urged creation of an international control organization under the United Nations security council which would see that provisions of the agreement were carried out. The proposals were put forward as a "package deal," the West said — the whole program must be accepted, not just parts of it.

Many of the proposals embodied in it already have been advanced in the sub-committee and have usually met with violent condemnation from Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin.

The other four members of the sub-committee are the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

The United States originated the proposals but they were worked out jointly with Britain, France and Canada and cleared with the rest of the NATO allies. The 11 sections of the program make in essence these provisions:

1. Within a year of the agreement coming into force, the United States and Russia would limit their armed forces to 2,500,000 men and Britain and France to 750,000 each. At the same time each country would surrender an agreed amount of armaments to an international control organization.

Later these could be negotiations for a second and third stage reduction in armed forces, until American and Soviet forces were cut to 1,700,000 each, and British and French to 650,000 each.

2. Each country would keep the international control organization informed of its military expenditure.

3. Each country would undertake not to use nuclear weapons "if an armed attack has not placed the party in a situation of individual or collective self-defence."

4. One month after an international control system has been set up, no country would make fissile material for military purposes. Stockpiles of nuclear weapons would be reduced.

5. Each country would suspend, under international control, nuclear tests for 12 months. If a satisfactory inspection system was devised, and progress was made toward ending nuclear weapon production, tests would be suspended for another 12 months.

If, after two years, arrangements for prolonging the suspension broke down, countries might resume tests only by registering them in advance, by allowing limited international observation, and by limiting the Continued on Page 2

Control Locks Blamed In B.C. Air Disaster

OTTAWA (CP) — The transport department said today a locked tail elevator was the cause of a crash at Port Hardy airport, B.C., killing 14 of 18 persons aboard a Pacific Western Airlines DC-3 aircraft June 23.

The report said that before takeoff the pilot was seen removing the rudder and aileron locks. The base engineer also noted that these parts were free, but did not check the elevators, the report added.

The airline's operations manual required the pilot-in-command "to assure himself that the elevator control locks are removed before flight."

A coroner's jury recommended that the department review the fire-fighting equipment needs at all airports. The department said the Port Hardy fire crew responded quickly and efficiently at the time of the accident. Plans were under way to replace the crash truck there with a new one of larger capacity.

Canada Played Arms Plan Part Says John D.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today the Canadian government has agreed to include all or part of Canada for an aerial inspection system in a world disarmament program, if Russia reciprocates.

In a 700-word statement in his dual capacity as prime minister and external affairs minister, Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada "considers that a useful start in providing safeguards against surprise attack could be made in the Arctic areas."

Commenting on Western disarmament proposals advanced today in London, he said Canada would do her "utmost to ensure that the system works effectively."

Most of Mr. Diefenbaker's statement was a resume of the West's proposals, made in the sub-committee of the United Nations disarmament commission of which Canada is a member along with the United States, Britain, France and Russia.

Inspection is necessary, to insure that all parties to the proposed agreement carry out their obligations, he said.

"It is our belief that it is of the greatest importance to have in operation such systems of inspection if we are to ensure that under a disarmament treaty the nations will enjoy no less security than their present defences provide."

"Because of this belief the Canadian government has agreed, if the Soviet Union will reciprocate, to the inclusion of either the whole or a part of Canada in an equitable system of aerial inspection and will do its utmost to ensure that the system works effectively."

"We consider that a useful start in providing safeguards against surprise attack could be made in the Arctic areas."

Canada's participation in shaping the proposals has been guided by a desire to find the means of avoiding war.

"Any war could provide the spark which could lead to nuclear conflagration, he said.

"We consider that the proposals offer a realistic and practical basis for a first stage toward more far-reaching measures. In preparing these proposals we have, with our Allies, sought constantly to meet the legitimate interests and policies of the Soviet Union."

The West had sought ideas capable of immediate application because time was making the disarmament problem "ever more intractable."

New British Atom Tests Next Month

CANBERRA (Reuters) — A new series of British atomic tests at the Maralinga proving grounds will begin next month, Howard Beale, Australian supply minister, announced tonight.

The last series of British tests ended on June 10 this year when Britain's third hydrogen bomb was exploded high over the central Pacific after being dropped by an RAF jet bomber.

Beale said the weapons tested in the new series will be in the kiloton range. A kiloton is equivalent to an explosive force of 1,000 tons of TNT.

The tests will be conducted by the British government with the co-operation of the Australian government, he said, and observers from Commonwealth and allied countries will witness the tests.

Low Wants Change In Senate Naming

OTTAWA (BUP) — The Conservative government should ask the provinces to nominate persons to fill at least half the 16 vacancies in the Senate, Social Credit leader Solon Low said today.

If the provinces had a hand in filling the vacancies, Low said, the appointments would "provide a more accurate reflection of the political elements in the country," Mr. Diefenbaker could fill the other half of the vacancies himself, he added.

SYRIA DENIES B AND K VISIT

DAMASCUS (AP) — The Syrian foreign ministry today denied reports that Russia's Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev have been invited to Syria or will visit the country before the end of the year.

"It's just not true," said a Syrian spokesman of the report broadcast by the Israeli radio and published abroad by a British news agency.

WEATHERMAN GLUM ON HOLIDAY PROSPECT

Fine Weather Riding for a Fall

Weatherman William MacKie was less than enthusiastic today in viewing the weather outlook for the holiday week-end.

"I can't give a forecast that far ahead," he said, "but I can say that there is a storm near the Queen Charlotte Islands, and the high pressure ridge that gave us our nice weather this week is collapsing slowly."

"In addition, the weather always seems to get touchy near a major holiday," he said.

Skies will be clear tonight, and temperatures will drop to the middle 40s in colder areas, he said. Friday will be essentially sunny, with the thermometer reaching to 74 degrees in sheltered locations.

Almost gittin' t' th' point now where th' Russians say "We reject th' disarmament proposal you're goin' t' make."

Th' weatherman sez th' weekend may not be so good. What, back t' summer ag'in?

Guess ever'body'll be seein' missiles now fer a while, as a change from flyin' saucers.

Precision Arms Still Power Key

OTTAWA (BUP)—The balance of world power may still lie with conventional precision weapons unless the Russians have an inter-continental ballistic missile which is extremely accurate, Gordon Watson, director of weapons research for the Defence Research Board, said today.

ing results are within our grasp."

COULD BE BASIS

France, the U.S., the United Kingdom and Canada, as the Western powers on the United Nations disarmament sub-committee, had presented proposals "which we believe can provide the basis for an agreement on a first stage of disarmament."

They could be given immediate effect, without political conditions, "and so make a tangible contribution to world peace now by rendering more remote the danger of war."

He described as "a significant step towards disarmament" a proposal to reduce to 2,500,000 the armed forces of the United States and the Soviet Union and to 750,000 for France and the United Kingdom.

First-stage proposals would place certain armaments under international supervision in depots within the countries' own territories. "This will be a valuable introduction to more extensive reductions in armaments envisaged in the second and third stages, when the arms retained would be related to the reduced manpower ceilings," he said.

REVERSE THE TREND

The nuclear disarmament proposals were designed first to stop the atomic armaments race "and then reverse the trend by reducing the reserves of nuclear weapons."

Proposals to suspend nuclear test explosions while negotiating to cut off the production of fissionable material for weapons kept the matter in perspective. "The proposals treat suspension of tests as a matter for immediate action while keeping the problem in proper perspective, for the ending of tests cannot end the nuclear armaments race."

FATHER'S BODY FOUND NEAR TRAGEDY SCENE

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—City police Wednesday night recovered the body of a fellow-officer from the St. Lawrence River, less than 50 feet from where he plunged to his death with his 14-year-old child.

There was no sign of the bodies of the children, believed drowned by their father, Roland Masse, 42, a chief of detectives, during a fit of depression Tuesday night.

Masse had spent two eight-day periods at the St. Francis of Assisi Hospital within the last three months for treatment of "mental disorders," hospital authorities said.

6. Within three months of the plan coming into force, all parties "will co-operate in the establishment of a technical committee to study the design of an inspection system which would make it possible to assure that the sending of objects through outer space will be exclusively for peaceful and scientific purposes."

7. This section reiterated the aerial inspection proposals tabled by John Foster Dulles, United States secretary of state, while visiting London Aug. 2.

Russia is offered the choice of an aerial inspection and photography zone either over all the United States, Soviet Union and Canada, or in the Arctic.

If she accepts either, she is further offered a European zone.

8. The international control organization would be under the security council of the United Nations.

9. The control organization would have authority to study a system for regulating the export and import of "designated armaments."

10. Each country might suspend its obligations, wholly or in part, if it considered its security threatened as a result of violation of the disarmament convention by another country.

11. The provisions of the working paper were inseparable. The western powers were not committed to any one proposal unless the rest were accepted.

Vote on Shares Issue Seals Roe-Disco Deal

TORONTO (CP)—Shareholders of A. V. Roe Canada Limited today voted unanimously to issue new shares so that the firm can buy control of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

President A. Crawford Gordon told them "I frankly doubt that those shareholders would oppose the change of control."

He said a formal offer to buy control of the Maritimes firm would be mailed to its shareholders Friday.

Army Denies Secret Weapon 'Sterilizing'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Army said Wednesday an investigation has indicated no scientific basis for allegations that some Second World War soldiers were made sterile by a secret weapon experiment.

The secret weapons, never actually used in battle, were powerful arc lamps mounted on tanks. The idea was to suddenly switch them on enemy troops, caught by surprise on a battlefield at night. The lights were expected to blind the enemy soldiers.

The idea was for allied rifle men, hidden behind the tanks, to pounce upon the brilliantly illuminated but blinded enemy troops.

Last June some of the estimated 3,000 or so U.S. soldiers who were exposed to the powerful lamps said they believed the light machines may have made them unable to father children.

After a number of newspaper items appeared, quoting veterans who were exposed to the lights, the army promised an investigation.

The army announcement Wednesday said the matter now has been thoroughly investigated and "there is no valid scientific basis which could support the newspaper allegations."

Railway Revenues In Canada Down

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company Wednesday announced net earnings of $3,047,213 for July, 1957, compared with $3,679,725 in the corresponding month last year.

Gross earnings last month were $42,434,848, down from $43,098,211, while working expenses were $39,387,635, down from $39,418,486 in July, 1956.

For the first seven months of 1957, net earnings totalled $18,192,293, down from $19,150,101 in the corresponding period last year. Gross earnings were $281,962,744 against $285,972,710, while expenses were $263,770,481 against $266,822,609 in the first seven months of 1956.

FINE SHEEP

Merino sheep, backbone of Australia's great wool industry, are believed to have originated in North Africa.

They also proposed the government negotiate an agreement with India to voluntarily limit shoe exports to Canada to 250,000 pair a year.

The brief said that without some government intervention the 5,000 employees of the rubber footwear industry in Canada would soon be out of work.

Sinking With 94 Lost Probed in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The captain and crew of an American freighter were questioned today in an effort to determine the cause of a collision that sank an Argentine river boat and left 94 persons missing.

All the missing persons were among the 247 persons aboard the river steamer City of Buenos Aires. No one aboard the freighter Mormacraft, owned by Moore-McCormack Lines of New York, was injured.

Only slight hope now is held that some of the missing might have reached safety after the riverboat went down Tuesday night in the Uruguay River, 73 miles north of Buenos Aires. Argentine officials said Capt. Kenneth J. Sommers and other crew members of the Mormacraft were "being detained incommunicado." They stressed that such procedure is normal to give authorities the opportunity to take testimony.

The 3,754-ton City of Buenos Aires went down before lifeboats could be launched. Most survivors went into the water in lifejackets.

A government report said 153 persons—66 crew members and 87 passengers—were rescued from the river steamer. Survivors said many of those lost were old people and children.

Missing is Silverio Brizuela, captain of the City of Buenos Aires. Local newspapers report there has been no confirmation that the 53-year-old captain shot himself in the head while standing on the bridge a few moments after the collision, but there has been no confirmation.

JOHNSON-LEYLAND VOWS

Young Couple to Make New Home in Trail

A wedding of interest to many Victorians took place here recently when Valerie Wendy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Leyland, was given in marriage by her father to Albert Eloff Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Magnus A. Johnson of Warner, B.C.

The pretty bride chose a street-length princess style gown in bluish pink with all pink accessories and a bouquet of cascading deep red roses and white carnations.

Miss Betty Moores of Creston attended Miss. Leyland as bridesmaid. She wore a pale blue floral gown also styled on princess lines with a matching bolero and colonial bouquet of yellow, pink and blue carnations.

Anthony Tadey of Trail was best man, and Thomas Kirk of Victoria ushered.

Olde England Inn was scene of a reception where Joseph Highton proposed a toast to the bride's happiness, and Mrs. C.

H. Ramsden sang "Because." The bride's table was covered with a handmade Cluny lace cloth, and silver candelabra holding slender pink candles flanked a three-tier cake. Red rosebuds topped the cake, which was embedded in pink tulle.

RECEIVING GUESTS

Mrs. Leyland, bride's mother, received guests in a charming bois-de-rose draped sheath dress which she wore with white accessories and a white orchid tipped with pink. Mrs. Johnson, mother of the groom, chose a full-skirted blue floral gown with white accessories and a pale yellow orchid.

A light grey wool fitted suit with tangerine and black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses was donned by the bride.

The young couple are honeymooning now in the United States and plan to make their home in Trail, where Mr. Johnson is principal of Montrose Elementary School.

SHE KNOWS WHERE SHE'S GOING

High Marks, Fun As Well for Barbara

By ANNE MAYHEW

The best place to picnic on a sunny summer noon is, beyond a doubt, among the buttercups between the "TO" and the "VICTORIA" in the "WELCOME TO VICTORIA" flower bed on Belleville Street.

It's also a good spot for an interview!

That's the place Barbara preferred, at any rate. And she should know, for she's working at the Parliament Buildings and spends her lunch hour in this flower bed nearly every day.

"Barb," the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Wallace, Richmond Avenue, is spending her holidays doing clerical work in the Department of Education.

Through that and half a dozen other things, she has changed her mind and plans to work for a Bachelor of Arts degree and then become a teacher.

"I had decided that I definitely wouldn't be a teacher when everybody said to me, 'Of course you will...'" Both her father and uncle teach.

"I wanted to be in the social service for the longest time,

Barbara Wallace... plans to be a teacher.

(A camp leader must have or develop a sense of humor, a strong constitution and a knack for winning children's approval.)

At Victoria College, Barb says she majored in "Caff 100." In other words, that she loved those heated discussions in the cafeteria. "But if you're to be a teacher," she excused herself, "everything you do is a help!"

"College year starts with a bang," she exclaimed, "... and you never come down!"

The clouds seem to agree with her, for though she was women's representative on the Council, assistant editor of "The Tower," and in countless other things, Barb came through with an 84.9% average. And a scholarship, besides.

As you can see, Barb hasn't been wasting her time among the buttercups. She's been plotting the route, and now she knows where she's going.

Southern Senator Natters 15 Hours

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Strom Thurmond (Dem.-S.C.) conducted an around-the-clock, last-gasp filibuster today against the compromise civil rights bill, which the House passed overwhelmingly Tuesday, is largely a right-to-vote bill.

Thurmond, the South's unsuccessful candidate for President as the States' Rights Party nominee in 1948, began his talk at 8:54 Wednesday night.

He was still talking at noon, 15 hours later.

... Mrs. Thurmond Listens.

His speech was not an uninterrupted one, however, so he was not near setting a filibuster record. He had breaks totalling one hour and five minutes. An aide said he did not believe Thurmond himself knew when he would quit.

Thurmond's speech forced the Senate into its longest continuous session since April 24-25, 1953, when Sen. Wayne Morse (Dem.-Ore.) set the filibuster record by talking 22 hours and 26 minutes without interruption against the "tidalands oil bill."

In Spring Young Russ' Fancy Turns to Tricks

PARIS (UP) — The International Amateur Athletics Federation has been asked to look into the strange case of Russian high jumper who broke records with the help of super-secret track shoes suspected of acting like springs.

The shoes came to the attention of western observers in the recent Moscow sports festival where a little-known Russian by the name of Yuriy Stepanov bettered Charlie Dumas' world record of 7 feet 0 1/2 inches by half an inch, and another Russian cleared 7 feet. Both wore shoes that looked strange.

No westerner was allowed to inspect them. But action photographs showed they were wearing something on their take-off foot that looked like an ordinary basketball shoe — except for a more than inch-thick second sole with over-size spikes tacked under the normal sole.

Arctic 'Path-Blazer' Praised by U.S. Navy

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian navy's Arctic patrol ship Labrador, which has discovered two new deepdraft passages in the Canadian Arctic, has been congratulated by the United States navy.

Labrador this summer established that navigable passages exist through Bellot Strait, between Somerset Island, and Boothia Peninsula, and between Resor and Pike Islands near the head of Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island.

The latter adds a new approach into Baffin Island's Frobisher Bay, from the Foxe Basin area.

Vice-Admiral John M. Will, commander of the U.S. Navy's Military Sea Transportation Service, said his formation especially appreciates the Labrador's achievement in the Frobisher area because his command had experienced two costly groundings in Frobisher Bay.

Rear-Admiral Roy Gano, commander of an MSTC Arctic task force, messaged:

"Your discerning the need for additional navigable channels, and seizing the opportunity while accomplishing assigned duties and coping with unseen operational problems was a very fine example of initiative, resourcefulness and professional competence, reflecting great credit to the Royal Canadian Navy."

U.S. Planning Second Test Of Missile

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Reports that a second United States missile may be shot from here this week circulated today following Wednesday's test-firing of a projectile with a range of 1,500 miles.

The defence department would not comment on whether the firing was a reply to Russia's claim that Soviet scientists have tested successfully an intercontinental missile able to deliver a hydrogen bomb anywhere in the world.

Neither would officials disclose whether the missile fired Wednesday was a Thor or a Jupiter. Both have ranges of 1,500 miles. The Jupiter was developed by the U.S. Army, the Thor by the Air Force.

The 50-foot Jupiter has been fired successfully before. Unofficial reports say one rose 70 miles in a previous test and travelled 1,650 miles over the Atlantic at an average speed of more than 5,000 miles an hour.

Reports before the firing were that the Jupiter would be tested Wednesday and the Thor would be fired Friday.

Neglect Charged In Falls Death

POWELL RIVER (CP) — A coroner accused the B.C. forestry department Wednesday of neglect to install "even rudimentary safety devices" at the top of Chatterbox Falls.

The coroner, Dr. C. R. Marlatt, said at an inquest there was no excuse for the death of Bruce Hastings, 20, of Vancouver, who was swept over the falls Tuesday.

The jury found that Hastings died accidentally.

ask Andy HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answers each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Nancy Youngberg, aged 11, of Seattle, Wash., for her question:

What Is a Geyser?

When we think of geysers, Old Faithful always comes to mind. There are countless geysers in the world, many of them are larger and a few are even more faithful than Old Faithful. That is to say, they spout up their plumes of steam and water at more exact intervals. But for some reason, Old Faithful of Yellowstone National Park has earned a reputation around the world as a sort of King of geysers. Every year, millions of tourists arrive to watch him spit.

Viewed from above ground, a geyser is active only once in awhile. This is when a plume of steam and hot water shoots up into the air. Some geysers spout every few minutes, others wait hours between shows. Some spout at regular intervals, others spit only when they feel like it—or so it seems. But the show above ground is merely the last step of a complicated process which goes on below ground all the time. Geysers occur in regions where not so long ago the earth seethed with volcanic activity. Molten rock, which is lava, poured in thick blankets over the ground. The surface of this lava cooled in the air. But layers of hot rock were trapped below, sealed by the solid crust above. Such regions exist in Iceland, New Zealand and Yellowstone Park. And here we find geysers.

Water seeps down through cracks and pores in the solid surface. It collects in lakes and tunnels right down in the hot layers of rock below. And what happens when water pours on hot stone? It turns to steam. And steam pours forth as from a boiling kettle.

There are two theories as to why the geyser erupts only so often. Under normal pressure water boils at 212 degrees Fahrenheit. Under heavier pressure it will not boil and turn to steam until much hotter. And the ground water down there below the spouting geyser is certainly under pressure. It becomes superheated, which is hotter than boiling though unable to turn to steam.

One theory explains that the eruption happens when some of the cooler water above the superheated water turns to steam. It escapes through the vent, or crater. This releases pressure on the deep, superheated water. Then it, too, turns to steam and rushes up to make a frothy plume in the air.

A more recent theory suggests that there may be several connecting underground chambers below a geyser. Ground water seeps through cracks and pores to fill them. Only one chamber is in a bed of hot rock and only this chamber heats its water to steamy boiling point. When this steam gets up enough steam, it rushes into a connecting chamber of cooler water. The rush of steam pushes up and squirts this water into a white fountain above ground. When the show is over, the water starts to collect in the cavity or cavities below ground and the cycle starts all over again.

Andy sends a Hammond's Ambassador World Atlas to Bertha Baldwin, aged 14, of Sunnyslope, Arizona, for her question:

Are there some questions Andy cannot answer?

Yes, indeed there are plenty of questions your old Andy cannot answer. In fact, he is mostly a reporter. He finds out what he can about the subjects that interest you and reports his findings in his column.

Andy's job is tracking down the things you want to know. He spends hours reading books and encyclopedias, looking up word meanings in dictionaries. He consults with experts on various subjects to get the latest news. And once in a while he goes out to interview an especially fascinating animal.

Anyone who had the time and the curiosity could do all this. Anyone who tried to do it would soon find out that there are about a million things we don't know on every subject. So Andy just reports the known facts and tells you that the rest is still waiting to be discovered.

WOMAN KILLS SELF DRIVING BLINDFOLD

CHICAGO (AP) — A 52-year-old woman committed suicide Wednesday by blindfolding herself and driving her car along a busy street, where she crashed into a sign, a stop light and gas station. The death of Mrs. Kathryn Dawson was listed by the coroner's office as an "automobile suicide."

100-YEAR-OLD Royal Disdain Failed To Foil Divorce Act

LONDON (Reuters) — Divorce was 100 years old in England Wednesday.

Parliament on Aug. 28, 1857, passed the Matrimonial Causes Act which gave the common man or woman a practical way to achieve divorce. Before that a special act of Parliament was required, a process so involved and expensive that only 244 divorces were granted in England from 1715 to 1850.

Nowadays, twice that many divorces are granted in England each week.

But when the matrimonial causes law resulted in the divorce rate pushing up to 140 a year, Queen Victoria wrote an indignant letter to the lord chancellor:

"These cases fill almost daily a large portion of the newspapers," she said. "None of the worst French novels can be as bad as what is daily brought and laid upon the breakfast table of every educated family in England."

It is difficult to imagine what the Queen would have thought in 1947 when the annual divorce rate reached 58,000.

There were more than 1,000 marriages for every English divorce in 1872 but only 10 marriages for every divorce 80 years later.

One factor involved in the increase was a change in the reasons for divorce provided in the original act.

The 1857 law gave adultery as the only grounds, and a woman could get a divorce only if her husband was guilty of "seriously aggravated adultery."

In other words, if he also beat her or deserted her. In 1937, cruelty, insanity, and desertion were added as grounds.

60 DEATHS IN TRAFFIC PREDICTED FOR HOLIDAY

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Day weekend traffic accidents will kill 60 Canadians, the Canadian Highway Safety Conference predicted today.
